Chapter 1 - My mission

1 - My mission

I am Ali, I am a ninja, and this is my story. My secret name is White Leaf, and I am the best in the business. I get all the tough, adventurous, and hard missions Trust me, they are not easy. One mission I had to steal an aquamarine diamond, which I liked to do cause it, is my birthstone! But now my mission is at my own school! An Onyx Gem! I can't believe they have one at my school!

I started my mission 5:15 A.M. I gathered my gear, my own two hands is all I need. I trudged up to the upper campus. I ran up toward the auditorium, I grabbed the door and pulled it open, just in time to jump in. I disabled the alarm last night, yes I know how I'm not stupid because I am under eight-teen. I had to hide in the shadows till' the janitor passed, luckily he didn't see me. I ran toward the basement door, at least they say it is a basement.

I opened the door, a wall, a brick wall. Wait! There was a small opening, just big enough to fit me. I crawled under, there was another, smaller but still big enough. I crawled again, another, AGAIN! Smaller but was it big enough? I crawled under! It was! At last there was a door. I was smarter than them, they put an alarm on the door, so I took an amazing gadget out of my bag, a disarmer. It disarmed the alarm. There was a keypad next to the door, I tapped in, 47568892736. The door opened, I knew it! Someone already got in, it looked like years ago.

Black and white, it hit me. My mom did it when she was a ninja! But, I forgot she did. I continued on my journey. The door lead to the girl's bathroom. I quickly changed into the uniform for the school. I ran toward the end of the hall. I leaped up and grabbed the cover for the vent. It fell, I leaped again. I got hold of the edge and stumbled in. I crawled toward the light. It seemed like it was endless, but finally I made it. I fell down onto the floor, the checkered pattern on the floor told me sensors on the purple squares. I stepped only on the white squares, I made it! I put a disarmer on the casing of the gem. I carefully slid my hand in the case, and I slowly grabbed the gem. Thank goodness I didn't sound an alarm. I put on my magnet gloves, gloves that stick to walls. I climbed up the wall and into the transport, it transports any ninja to HQ. When I got there my mission master started to applaud.

"And White Leaf strikes again", She said. "Why did I steal it again?", I asked. "We need to do some research on the stone's history", She replied. "So I am your little test rodent?" I asked eagerly. "No, No, No. You are really important to this agency, You are dismissed" She said. I trudged toward the door. Am I her little test rodent? I'm not sure.
