ok this might be deleted so i didnt put it in the story form.

1 - here is it again.

the still water moved a splash near the shore the water moved again on what is supposed to be a still surface, then a fish disappeared from its school and then, a head lifted threw the water, it was a dragon with its pelt the color of the water her eyes as well. she gulped down the fish her needle like teeth had no fangs but only tiny jagged teeth some mock her for them she let out a tiny roar she then ducked her head into the water again then she jumped about 5 feet from the water then she spread her wings out and flapped them against the air, and she was in the sky now. she let out another roar then she folded her wings against her oily body then she dove in the water and flew out a large bass in her jaws, she looked around then flew to a cave almost at the edge of a cliff she landed near the cave and dropped her catch she then scratched behind her head and then let out a tiny roar and she sat down and waited her eyes moving to her kill to the cave entrance. then a giant female dragon's head poked out of the cave entrance she hissed her forked tongue flicked the air the smaller dragon let out a tiny roar saying ""i got this fresh kill for you mom."" she curled her tail around her clawed paws awaiting an answer. the dragon looked at her daughter to the kill she came out of the den and nuzzled the small dragon. ""you know Aquawing that i can still catch fish even though i can't swim."" Aquawing purred and nuzzled her mother back ""i know it's just that i want you to taste fish without fearing the water."" Aquawing roared out her mother purred and licked her bundle of joy she then grabbed the tiny meal and chucked it into the air and caught it in her mouth she then gulped the bass leaving no trace of it being eaten. Aquawing wagged her tail and yipped her wings unfolded and she jumped in the air and started to flap her wings she was up to her mother's head she licked her mother and then flew away from the cave, she roared in the air doing tricks in the sky twisting and turning flips circles and rolls. she yipped happily she was able to be seen in the sky with her sea colored pelt Aquawing flicked her tail and then dove down into the water she looked the taste of the sea she purred making bubbles rise to the surface of the water she then stopped and slunk to the bottom of the sea she looked around her eyes spotted a school of herring she crooked down low and then she uttered an underwater cry as she clamped down on 3 of them she then swam to the surface the fish slapping their tails across Aquawing's snout the she-dragon then clamped down on the fish harder killing each with her jaws force, she then heard a loud roar of her father flying passed Aquawing watched her father soar in the sky with another dragon it was his friend, Scarface her father looked down to see Aquawing he smiled a toothy grin showing almost every tooth in his mouth he then swooped down while Scarface stopped soaring but just waited for his friend to come back. Aquawing yipped with the 3 fish in her mouth her father purred to her then dove into the water, his wings instinctly were folded to his back, Aquawing followed her father soaring in the water with him her father was visible in the water but Aquawing wasn't. but soon her father nuzzled Aquawing then jumped out of the water and flew back to his friend Scarface and then they flew toward where Aquawing's mother stayed. Aquawing looked up at her dad and she roared it was muffled by the fish as she did though she said ""bye father!!"" she then jumped out of the water again and soared away from the sea she then went to her clan and dropped the 3 fish in the fresh kill pile then she flew away before any dragon noticed her. she flexed her jaws from trying to hold the fish with her flight underwater with her father. she landed at the cave she was at before and she looked at the setting sun and sighed she then heard her mother called her ""Aquawing, come inside!"" she obeyed her mother as she turned her tail to the setting sun and entered the cave she looked at the setting sun once more then she went inside she saw her mother and father curled up together waiting for her, Aquawing raced to her parents and licked each one's cheek then she layed beside her mother and slowly closed her eyes but then she was pushed up to her feet by her mother, she turned to her mother with a tilted head. her mother then roared ""you sleep with the clan remember?"" aquawing nodded her head then turned out of the cave and spread her wings and flew toward her clan. she let out a small yip landing she then looked around cautiously then she headed for the pupils cave and made herself a moss bed and layed down in it. she yawned then her eyes slowly closed, her last sight was the orange yellow light from outside the cave then she was asleep.
