

D.M.G.

By Wishsayer

Submitted: April 22, 2009

Updated: April 29, 2009

this is a story i've been working on and wanted to put it up here

Provided by Fanart Central.

<http://www.fanart-central.net/stories/user/Wishsayer/56145/D.M.G.>

Chapter 1 - Hawk's View	2
Chapter 1 - Hawk's View	3
Chapter 2 - Cats view	4

1 - Hawk's View

The Beginning Hawk's View

A loud flapping sound of wings, and flashes of talons and beaks. Then a black bird flew away followed by a large brown bird with a white head. It was a raven and an eagle.

Tired and thirsty he went to a near by a pond and when he saw his reflection...

"Ah!" A boy with red-brown hair sat up quickly. What was that? Why was I a hawk? He thought to him-self as he rubbed his forehead.

There was a window next to him and the sun was coming up just over the trees.

Must be just after dawn. He thought as he started to look around the room with his soft green-hazel eyes. There were two other beds in the room. In the one closest to him was a girl who looked about sixteen with brown hair and brownish red tips.

In the other bed was a boy who looked slightly younger then the girl about fifteen maybe, he had black hair with silver tips.

So he got up and headed for the door, there was a hallway with no other doors. So he went to explore at the end of the hallway was a kitchen, a very large kitchen.

It had a long counter that came out into an island. There were three tables two had computer sets on them. That's weird computers in a kitchen two at that. Oh well. He thought.

There were two other doors, one was near the island and the other was at the far end of the kitchen by one of the computers. He took the one near the island.

As he came into the next room he saw at least four more sets of computers. WOW! He thought as he saw them and a big screen TV on the wall. SWEET!

He turned it on and watched for about two hours. After that he turned it off and went to go get a snack.

When he had his sandwich in hand he sat down at one of the computers and started to play games on it.

After half an hour later he fell asleep on the table.

Gliding through the air like a cloud, the world below looked beautiful bathed in moonlight. Looking in front again two birds were locked in battle. A hawk and an eagle.

Suddenly going faster he went head long into the fight trying to stop it. The eagle finally broke away leaving the hawk.

' Why would a raven try to stop a fight, when normally they are the ones who start it?' the hawk asked

' What do you mean? I'm not a raven' He said to the hawk as he landed near a lake.

'Are you sure? Because you sure look like a raven to me.' The hawk said pointing to the lake with it's wing.

When he looked in the water he did see a raven, but there was something else. Just when he was about to figure it out... CRASH! " Huh... What ?" The boy said as he looked around. His plate and the mouse had fallen on the floor. "Oops." He said as he bent to pick them up.

As he was putting his plate in the dishwasher he thought, That dream again, only, this time I was the raven instead, and the eagle was there too.

He started to head back to the room when he heard some one say "Whoa. What a weird dream." It was the girl, the boy said, "You too huh?"

1 - Hawk's View

The Beginning Hawk's View

A loud flapping sound of wings, and flashes of talons and beaks. Then a black bird flew away followed by a large brown bird with a white head. It was a raven and an eagle.

Tired and thirsty he went to a near by a pond and when he saw his reflection...

"Ah!" A boy with red-brown hair sat up quickly. What was that? Why was I a hawk? He thought to him-self as he rubbed his forehead.

There was a window next to him and the sun was coming up just over the trees.

Must be just after dawn. He thought as he started to look around the room with his soft green-hazel eyes. There were two other beds in the room. In the one closest to him was a girl who looked about sixteen with brown hair and brownish red tips.

In the other bed was a boy who looked slightly younger then the girl about fifteen maybe, he had black hair with silver tips.

So he got up and headed for the door, there was a hallway with no other doors. So he went to explore at the end of the hallway was a kitchen, a very large kitchen.

It had a long counter that came out into an island. There were three tables two had computer sets on them. That's weird computers in a kitchen two at that. Oh well. He thought.

There were two other doors, one was near the island and the other was at the far end of the kitchen by one of the computers. He took the one near the island.

As he came into the next room he saw at least four more sets of computers. WOW! He thought as he saw them and a big screen TV on the wall. SWEET!

He turned it on and watched for about two hours. After that he turned it off and went to go get a snack.

When he had his sandwich in hand he sat down at one of the computers and started to play games on it.

After half an hour later he fell asleep on the table.

Gliding through the air like a cloud, the world below looked beautiful bathed in moonlight. Looking in front again two birds were locked in battle. A hawk and an eagle.

Suddenly going faster he went head long into the fight trying to stop it. The eagle finally broke away leaving the hawk.

' Why would a raven try to stop a fight, when normally they are the ones who start it?' the hawk asked

' What do you mean? I'm not a raven' He said to the hawk as he landed near a lake.

'Are you sure? Because you sure look like a raven to me.' The hawk said pointing to the lake with it's wing.

When he looked in the water he did see a raven, but there was something else. Just when he was about to figure it out... CRASH! " Huh... What ?" The boy said as he looked around. His plate and the mouse had fallen on the floor. "Oops." He said as he bent to pick them up.

As he was putting his plate in the dishwasher he thought, That dream again, only, this time I was the raven instead, and the eagle was there too.

He started to head back to the room when he heard some one say "Whoa. What a weird dream." It was the girl, the boy said, "You too huh?"

2 - Cats view

The Beginning Cat's View

A fire like a phoenix rose out of the forest in front of her.

"Oh no!" she yelled as she turned to flee only to find that it was there to everywhere she looked the phoenix was there coming at her, but when she looked down at her feet however...

"Whoa, what a weird dream." A girl with brown hair that had a brownish-red at the tips, and sky blue eyes sat up slowly.

"You too huh?" a boy across the room said. He looked about fifteen and had black hair with silver on the edges, he had dancing green eyes that some how made her feel giddy. It looked like he had something under his shirt but she couldn't tell.

"What do you mean?" she asked

"Well I had a weird dream too." The boy told her.

"Oh? What 'bout?" she asked curious to see if it was like her own.

"I was a wolf but..." he told her looking at his hands like he was scared that they would try to kill him.

"Hmm... I was a cat in mine." She said as she looked out the window thoughtful.

"A cat?" the girl jumped to see who had broken her thoughts, it was another boy he was standing in the doorway, he looked about five ft. ten inches, he wore a blue T-shirt that had silver in the middle and on the sleeves. On his left upper arm he had a small green-blue belt much like the light blue one on her own left arm and the dark green on the first boy's right arm. He had red-brown hair but she couldn't see his eyes he had brown jeans that fit over long legs that looked like it would hurt to get kicked by. He looked seventeen and had a natural tan.

Wow two cute boys one house sweet!! The girl thought as the boy in the doorway said,

"And you were a dog?"

"A wolf thank you there is a difference." Said the first boy.

"Whatever. A cat," he pointed at the girl,

"A dog," he looked at the other boy who had raised an eyebrow at him.

"Sorry, a wolfy, and I was a hawk an eagle and a raven."

"Ooooo a raven, omen of death." Joked the first boy as he waved his fingers for affect.

"Hahaha." The boy in the doorway laughed sarcastically.

"You believe that kinda stuff." she asked him

"Nah, just joking around that's all... um?"

"What is it?" the girl asked

"I don't remember your name." he said with a very confused look on his face.

"It's... uh... I DON'T REMEMBER EATHER!"

"Nor do I." said the boy in the doorway

"Okay, how 'bout we call ourselves by the animal in our dreams," the first boy suggested as he pulled a gold amulet out of his blue-purple T-shirt. I wonder where he got that. she thought.

You'll be Cat," his voice snapped her mind back to the conversation.

"I'll be Wolf,"

"Or Pup!"

"OR Wolfy!" she and the other boy suggested as they started to giggle. It's amazing I feel so at ease with both of them even though none of us can remember anything. She thought still giggling.

"Oh your so hilarious I forgot to laugh." Wolf said rolling his eyes even though he was snickering a little bit to. I wonder if he is thinking the same thing as me. She thought as the other boy started to say.

"Ok, ok I'll be... Hawk yep Hawk." He said sounding quite proud of him-self. They all looked at each other thinking then Cat said.

"I don't remember my name or yours yet I still feel that I remember you." The boys looked at each other then at her.

"Hmm..." Hawk turned to go to the kitchen

"You know us we know you but can't remember anything else?"

"Uh... yeah pretty much." Cat answered him as he walk down the hall.

"Well, all this thinking is making me hungry. Let's eat!" Wolf said getting up off his bed.

"Ok." Cat said quietly as she followed him thinking.

"You know what if we were kidnapped or something?" Cat said while thinking about what to eat.

"You mean teennapped." Hawk joked as he made him-self some eggs.

"I'm serious. If we were taken then maybe there's a missing persons out on us." She said as she poured milk into her bowl.

"So?" Wolf asked as he popped a piece of popcorn shrimp in his mouth.

"So," Cat said as she turned to look at him "we must have friends or family, we could cheek the missing persons web."

"And if there isn't?" Wolf asked drowsily.

"Just cheek!" Cat and hawk said at the same time making Wolf jump.

"Ok, ok I'm looking, I'm looking." He said as he went to the computers near the island.

"Let's see no... no... n- WAIT A NEWS CLIP!" he yelled as he turned up the volume.