

Rhapsody in Blue

By YukiMizuno

Submitted: December 29, 2008

Updated: December 29, 2008

Summary: An Ed, Edd, 'n' Eddy/Sailor Moon crossover. Takes place after the final episode of Season 5 and after Sailor Stars in the Manga. Spoilers from Season 5's last episode and from Sailor Stars!!!

Provided by Fanart Central.

<http://www.fanart-central.net/stories/user/YukiMizuno/55245/Rhapsody-in-Blue>

Chapter 1 - The Girl That Fell From the Sky	2
Chapter 2 - The Bus Stop Incident	7
Chapter 3 - Ami's First Day of American School	14
Chapter 4 - Walking Home--Part I--Eddy's Accident and Catty Plank	21
Chapter 5 - Walking Home--Part II	26
Chapter 6 - Walking Home--Part III	30
Chapter 7 - Walking Home--Part IV	34
Chapter 8 - Eddy's Scary Vision and Strange Behavior	38

1 - The Girl That Fell From the Sky

Rhapsody in Blue

By: Jennifer Gay

Summary: An Ed, Edd, 'n' Eddy/Sailor Moon crossover. Takes place after the final episode of Season 5 and after Sailor Stars in the Manga. SPOILERS FROM SEASON 5's LAST EPISODE AND FROM SAILOR STARS!!!

Disclaimer: I do NOT own Ed, Edd, 'n' Eddy OR Sailor Moon! All I own is the characters Weiss, Alani, Violet, Lady Ultima and her henchmen!

~~~~~

Chapter 1: The Girl That Fell from the Sky

It was a somewhat peaceful afternoon here in Peach Creek County as we come upon the forest beside Peach Creek Jr. High. It is here where there is a place called the Pit, a place to hang out and relax after school. But a short while ago, it was not a place to relax, but the Pit was used as a place for a fight.

It was a "fight" (meaning that it was staged as a real fight) between Double D and Jimmy. But it all went downhill after Jimmy started to attack Eddy, who was teasing him. Then Jimmy attacked Double D for trying to help Eddy.

All the three Ed's, who were all battered and injured from some kind of pain, were the only ones at the Pit at the moment. After a few minutes, they left the area of the Pit, walking back to the school to get their backpacks, which were currently located at the front of the school.

(Here's a description of the Ed's as if you didn't know them already!)

Ed was a tall, twelve year old boy with a red-tinted buzz cut, a unibrow and had hazel, green-brown eyes. He was wearing a red and white striped t-shirt that was underneath a long, green jacket that went a little past his waist, baggy blue jeans, and black tennis shoes.

Double D was a middle sized twelve year old teen that had a few strands of messy, black hair coming out of the side of his white-striped, black sockhat and had dark, jade green eyes. He wore a red t-shirt that went past his waist, purple carpenter pants that went to his knees, and blue tennis shoes with long, red socks that went to his mid calf.

Eddy was a boy that seemed to be just a smidge too short for his age of twelve and had only three, long strands of dark blue hair on his head and had foggy, ice blue eyes. He wore a yellow t-shirt that went right to his waistline. The shirt had a purple collar and a red stripe coming down the right side of his shirt. He wore baggy blue jeans and red tennis shoes also.

(AN: Okay, that's enough of that! Let's get back to the story!)

“Grr, I’m so gonna get that little twerp when we get back home!” Eddy growled to himself as they exited the woods that they were in, “The nerve of him attacking me!”

“Well, you did provoke him into attacking you, Eddy,” Double D stated as he turned to him.

“Oh?” Eddy questioned sarcastically, “How so?”

Double D could only sigh at his behavior, putting his right hand to his forehead, “You’re so stubborn sometimes…”

Ed, in the meantime, was not paying any attention to his two friend’s conversation. Instead, he was staring up at the sky for no particular reason. But something did catch his attention very quickly, “Umm, guys?”

“What?” both Double D and Eddy questioned quickly; this was the first time Ed said anything to them for the past ten minutes.

“What’s with the blue line in the sky?” Ed asked with awe in his voice.

“Huh?” Double D muttered with confusion as he and Eddy both looked up into the sky. They both gasped at what they saw.

Just like Ed had said, there was a dark, blue streak of light in the sky, and it was heading to the direction of the Pit. They watched with amazement (or horror, depending on which Ed’s reaction) as the blue streak of light disappeared into the woods behind them. They then heard a very loud ‘thud’ afterwards.

There was silence between the three before Eddy spoke, “What the heck was that?!”

“It looked like one of the planet Junopia’s evil Meteor Men!!!” Ed stated in horror.

“No Ed, I think it was just a meteorite,” Double D quickly stated, trying to calm Ed down from his sci-fi theories.

“A meteorite?” Eddy questioned while plotting his hands together with the look of greed in his eyes, “Don’t meteorites fetch a lot of money when someone finds them?”

“Well… yes,” Double D hesitantly replied, “But I would like to examine it to see if it is an unknown alloy, and then see if we can sell it off to someone who collects meteorites.”

Eddy’s eyes widen at the thought, “Well, what’re we waiting for?!” he soon starts to run back to the Pit.

“Wait!” Double D called out to Eddy, who stopped to see what he had to say, “What about are backpacks? The school might take them up if we leave them there.”

Eddy seemed to growl under his breath, already seeing where this was going.

"In the meantime, I'll go to the meteorite and see what kind of element it is," Double D explained.

Eddy made a defeated sigh as he turned to Ed, "Ed, let's hurry up and get out backpacks before the school takes them up."

Ed just nodded his head, "Okie-Dokie, Smoky!"

Eddy and Ed soon headed back towards the front of the school while Double D heads back to the Pit. Double D took his time though, seeing that there was no rush to it. When he got back to the Pit, he saw a huge crater up ahead that had knocked down or moved things that were around when the meteorite hit the ground.

"Hmm, the meteorite must be big to create this kind of crater," Double D said to himself. He soon glanced down to look into the crater, "I wonder what kind of--"

He suddenly stopped what he was saying as he made a startled face. His heart seemed to have skipped a beat before he made a gasp. His face soon turned crimson around his cheeks.

There, down deep within the crater, was an unconscious twelve year old girl. She had dark, ocean blue hair that went to her chin and ears, which looked a little bit like a boy's haircut. She was wearing a baby blue t-shirt with a long sleeved white undershirt, ivory-colored cargo pants that went to her knees, and baby blue and white sneakers. But, the worst thing about this picture was the cuts and bruises that covered her arms, face, and legs.

"Oh dear!" Double D exclaimed as he was quickly by the girl's side in the crater. He quickly put his index fingers on her neck, hoping to feel a pulse response. He made a sigh of relief; there was a pulse, but it was very faint.

He then proceeded to lift her out of the crater with all of his strength. By the time he pushed her out of the crater and onto the soft grass beside it and climbing out of the crater himself, he was panting heavily from pushing her out.

"Hey Double D!" called a voice from the woods as Double D could hear Eddy and Ed coming to the scene, "Did ya find out meteorite yet?! I'm practically drooling on myself to see it!"

"Eddy... Ed! It's great... that you're... both here!" Double D said to them with a breath at a time before he finally regained his voice and posture, "There's a girl here that needs some medical assistance!"

"What?!" both Ed and Eddy exclaimed as they both then came to the area to see what he was talking about.

"Whoa! W-W-What the heck?!" Eddy nearly yelped out of his skin, "Where did she come from?!"

"Whoa..." Ed stammered a little with awe, "Is she an alien for the planet Dinoco A113?"

(AN: Dinoco is a fictional oil company in the Disney/Pixar movies... so I don't own that name or Disney would sue my butt!! And the A113 thing... Wiki it and find out! XD)

Both Eddy and Double D gave him an odd stare, "... No Ed, I don't think so," Double D finally replied to Ed's sci-fi statement, "But I do agree that she was the 'meteorite' we saw fall from the sky."

"How can you say something stupid like that, Sockhead!" Eddy nearly shouted at the top of his lungs, "That's something that I'd expect Ed to say!"

"And that was something I really wanted to say," Ed agreed in his own way with a nod of his head.

Double D was about to respond before a sound cuts him off; a soft, yet hurt-filled groan. The three Ed's turned to the girl, who was slightly rolling around, as if she were having a bad nightmare, before she went back to laying on her back. She then slowly opened her eyes; revealing dark, yet radiant sapphire orbs.

"W-Where... am I?" the girl stuttered with a Japanese accent as she then shot up as if she was just struck by lightning, gasping in horror. This surprised the Ed's, especially Double D; being that he thought that she would still be knocked out by the force of her landing. The three Ed's just watched her as she got up off of the ground, as if she hasn't been hurt at all.

"Umm... E-Excuse me," Double D started to stutter to the girl, "A-Are you alright?"

The girl turned to see the Ed's behind her. She widens her eyes in surprise, "Oh!" she then blushed like a tomato in embarrassment, "I-I'm just fine; t-thank you!"

"Hi there, alien girl!" Ed suddenly stated as he started to shake her hand up and down like a lever, "I am Ed, the earthling from Earth!"

"Ed you maniac!" Eddy yelled at Ed as he came over, grabbed Ed by his green jacket and dragged him back over to where he and Double D were, "She's human, not an alien from one of your dumb comics!"

The girl looked on at the scene with confusion before she realized what they were talking about, "Oh... I must've fallen from the sky just now?"

Double D nodded his head, "That's right," he then tilted his from confusion to her statement, "But how, may I ask, did you fall from the sky?"

"I... I'm not sure," she replied, "One minute, I'm at my best friend's wedding at Juuban Park, and then..." the girl gasped in horror once again, "Oh my, the others!"

She then looked at her surrounding even closer than she did before, "Am I still in Juuban Park?!"

"No, you're in the Pit close to our school," Eddy stated as he raised a suspicious eyebrow, "You know, in Peach Creek, Savannah, Georgia. Where did you think you were?"

(AN: The reason that I've picked Savannah, Georgia as the City/State is because Georgia IS the Peach State! XD And why Savannah? I don't really know... maybe it's because that the college that I want to go to is in Savannah. ./ Oh well, keep enjoying my story!)

The girl was silent for a minute, "I-I don't believe this..." she finally stuttered, 'There's a new threat to the world, and I'm on the other side of the world because of it!'

"I-Is there something wrong?" questioned Double D, noticing the worry in her eyes.

"... No; no, there's nothing wrong," the girl said, shaking that thought out of her head as another thought came to her. She looked up at the three boys and said, "M-My name is Ami Mizuno. What are your names?"

"I am Ed!" Ed said quickly with a little 'hello' wave.

Eddy made an arched eyebrow in suspicion once again, "The name's Eddy."

Double D felt like he had butterflies in his stomach when Ami then looked at him to get his name, "A-And my name is E-Eddward with two D's, b-but everybody calls me D-Double D," he stated back with a stutter.

Ami made a smile at the three boys, "Nice to meet you all..." she then thought about something else, "... D-Do you three know of a place to stay for the night?" she asked with slight hesitant, "I need to try to find a way back home, but I would need a roof to live under to do that."

"I-I have an extra guest room at my house," Double D said, "My parents won't be back for another month, so you can stay there if you want."

Ami made a nod, understanding, "That'll be perfect," she made a smile, "Thanks for the offer Double D."

"Y-You're welcome," he simply replied with a stutter, "W-Well, we should be heading back to the Cul-De-Sac; it's starting to become dark."

"I want cookies and milk!" Ed said with happiness as he, Eddy, Double D and Ami walked out of the Pit area and walked back to the Cul-De-Sac.

2 - The Bus Stop Incident

Chapter 2: The Bus Stop Incident

It was a somewhat peaceful morning here in the Peach Creek Cul-De-Sac, as we come upon the little neighborhood, the Peach Creek Cul-De-Sac. We soon come upon Double D's house, which was slightly bustling with activity.

Ami was already up and awake this morning, finished and cleaning what she had for breakfast in the kitchen, while Double D was still asleep in his bed. As we check in on Double D, he then started to toss and turn in his bed, currently in the state of a nightmare once again.

"No... y-you just can't be... don't go... please stop... no..." Double D muttered aloud in his sleep, tossing and turning even more, "No... no... NO!!!" he shouted aloud as he then jolted up from his bed, tears streaming down his face and gasping for a breath, "Oh... I-It was just another dream... about that girl..."

"Double D? Are you okay in there?" said Ami's voice from within the hallway as she then came into his room, dressed in what he found her wearing yesterday, but was cleaned up, "I thought I heard you scream."

"Ami... I-It's nothing, really!" Double D replied back as Ami just looked at him with an eyebrow raised in confusion.

"Well, if you say so..." Ami stated to him as she then left the room, leaving Double D alone to think about the nightmare he had for a moment. It was about thirty seconds later that Double D looked at the clock on his dresser beside him; 6:00am.

Double D made a happy sigh; time to go to school. He soon got up, got a shower, brushed his teeth and all that jazz before he came downstairs and ate some breakfast himself. Ami was currently sitting at the kitchen table, reading a book that she found in Double D's living room. It was about a minute before Double D finished whatever he was eating and cleaned up his mess afterwards.

He soon noticed that Ami was still reading the book that she held, "You like to read too, Ami?"

Ami closed the book and nodded her head to him, "Yes, it calms me whenever I pick up a good book."

Double D's face beamed at the statement, "That's always good."

Ami started to stand up from where she sat before Double D remembered something, "We better hurry on to meet Ed and Eddy; today's a school day."

"Oh, right," Ami stated with a smile, "... But I'll need a backpack."

"No need to worry; I have a spare in my room," Double D said as he went upstairs to his room and grabbed a barely used backpack; it was a blue, messenger bag-like backpack. He walked back down the stairs to see Ami waiting for him at his front door, "Here Ami."

Ami only thanked him with a nod of her head, "Thank you."

"It's no problem," he replied as he and Ami walked out the door and closed it behind, locking his house as it did.

They walked down the sidewalk and all the way to the bus stop without a problem. They soon saw only one kid standing at the bus stop, waiting to be picked up by the school bus. It was Kevin.

"There's another kid here too?" Ami asked, "Why didn't you mention him?"

Double D bit his bottom lip, "Well... why don't you stay here for a moment, just in case."

Ami arched an eyebrow at him, "Umm... sure, okay."

Double D made a smile at her before he walked on ahead. And then...

"Hey Double Dweeb!" called out Kevin's voice from the bus stop, "Where're the other Dorks?"

Double D made a sigh, lowering his head a little, "And there goes Kevin's insults..." he soon looked up to Kevin, "They'll be here soon."

"Good. I feel like I need to let my stress out on something," Kevin said while cracking his knuckles.

"Oh?" Double D stated nervously, "W-Why is that?"

Kevin glared at him as if he had done something stupid, "I got grounded this morning for coming home late last night," he then started to come dangerously close to Double D, "And you know why that is, Double Dork?"

"Umm..."

"It was because of that staged fight between you and Jimmy," he smirked at the memory of what happened yesterday, "It was good that Jimmy did beat the snot out of you and Eddy," soon his smile turned malevolent-like as he came even closer to him, "I guess it's my turn to do the thrashing!"

"U-Umm, now-now Kevin, t-there's no need for violence this, uh, e-early in the morning," Double D stuttered nervously as he started to back away from Kevin.

But before Kevin could lay a finger on him...

"Mercury Shabon... Spray!!!" shouted a feminine voice from out of the blue.

(AN: I think "Shabon" means Bubbles in Japanese... I'm not really sure... :/)

A thick blanket of baby blue, chilling fog suddenly comes down onto the two kids, making it hard to see your hand in front of your face, let alone anyone else in the fog.

“Hey! Where did this stupid fog come from?!” Kevin exclaimed as he swung his fists around like a maniac, trying to see if he could find and hit Double D.

Double D widened his eyes at this turn of events as he started to walk backwards, away from Kevin’s hollering voice, ‘What?’

Suddenly, he felt someone put their hand on his right arm as he was pulled out of the blue fog and far away from the oblivious Kevin, who was still in the little patch of blue fog. A few seconds later, Ed and Eddy come running up to the bus stop, hearing Kevin’s yells and the patch of blue fog.

“What the hay?” Ed stated as the patch of fog disappeared to reveal an exhausted Kevin, “You’ve been working out?”

“Where is he?!” Kevin said as he looked around quickly, “Where is that Dork?!”

“Hey Kev!” Eddy stated, kind of not paying attention of what Kevin just said, “Have any of you seen Double D?”

“Yeah, I did,” Kevin said as he came up to the short and tall Ed, “But he disappeared somewhere when I was about to ‘teach’ him something about my curfew!”

Ed and Eddy glanced at each other before they realized what he said, “You’ve hurt Double D?!” Ed asked in horror.

“No, he ran away after this creepy fog came rolling in,” Kevin said, “So I’m gonna take out my anger on you two instead!”

"..."

“Run away!!!” both Ed and Eddy cried as they ran away from Kevin, who then starts chasing after them.

Kevin chased them all the way to the entrance to the outskirts of where the candy store was located. It was then that he felt something grab his right arm and pushed him into the grass, “Out of my way, human.”

“What?” Kevin questioned as he looked at whoever had pushed him off the sidewalk; he saw a black creature starting running after Ed and Eddy. He arched an eyebrow at the scene, “What the heck?”

Meanwhile back with Double D, he was still being dragged away by the person who got him out of the blue fog. Double D could see where he was going; it was in the direction of the candy store. He was trying to break free from this person’s grasps, fearing that whoever it was was going to hurt him in some way.

But he couldn’t say anything, because the person’s gloved hand was over his mouth, preventing him to yell or speak. His suspicions fired up even more as he then noticed that he was being led down an alleyway between a building and the candy store. As soon as the person led Double D down to the end of the alleyway, he was let free from the person's grasps.

Double D was about to say something to the person as he turned to him; but then stopped before he even muttered a word. He got a good look at who rescued/adducted him.

It was a girl; a girl that was the same age as him with dark, ocean blue hair that went to her chin and ears, which looked a little bit like a boy's haircut. She also had dark, yet radiant sapphire orbs. She was wearing the weirdest clothes though; she was wearing a sailor uniform, complete with a layered dark and light blue mini skirt, white blouse, a blue sailor collar with a white stripe on each side, a baby blue ribbon with a dark blue, crystal star-like brooch in the middle of the ribbon, and blue-tinted, layered see-through shoulder pads. She also wore a pair of white and blue boots that went up to her mid shin and gloves that went past her elbows, a blue choker with a golden star on the front, and a tiara with a blue sapphire star jewel in the middle.

(AN: This is as close as I can get to while describing her outfit... can you picture it in your mind?)

"Are you alright?" asked the girl in the sailor uniform.

"Y-Yes, I'm fine now..." Double D muttered quietly, "... M-May I ask who you are?"

The girl made a smile to him, "My name is Sailor Mercury."

"S-Sailor Mercury?" Double D echoed her name, 'Where have I heard that name before...?'

"Yes," Mercury said with a nod.

Suddenly, they both hear familiar screams from behind Mercury as Ed and Eddy come running down the alleyway.

"Guys?" Double D questioned as Ed and Eddy ran past Mercury to him, "What's going on?"

"T-There's some kind of monster chasing us!" Eddy said in a panic.

Ed nodded his head, "Yeah! It's an alien coming to collect souls for its pot of soup!"

"You're close, but not exactly," stated a very throaty, malevolent voice as three something's appears from down the alleyway.

It was a midnight, black creature that was tall, had scaly, black hands with razor sharp nails, had scales trimming its skinny body, spiky black cones sticking out on the sides of his eyes, skinny legs with slight big feet and beady, blood red eyes. The blood red eyes were staring them down as if it was going to kill them in an instant. What was worse was that three were two others behind it.

"Youmas?!" Mercury exclaimed in surprise.

One of the creatures known as a youma looked at Mercury and made a malevolent smirk on its face, "Ah, I see a Sailor Senshi has come to the rescue for these pathetic humans."

Mercury gritted her teeth as she stood in front of the three Ed's, "Stay behind me; I don't want any of these youmas to hurt you three."

"Will do!"

Mercury nodded her head to the three as she then created a water harp in her hands.

"Oooo, pretty!" Ed stated with awe.

"How the heck did she do that?!" Eddy asked with surprise.

"Incredible..." Double D muttered to himself.

Mercury then started to play the water harp.

"Mercury... Aqua... Rhapsody!!!" waves of freezing water start to come from the harp as it blast into two of the three youmas, who didn't have enough time to defend or attack. They stood there for a moment, frozen in place until they crumbled into blocks of ice.

"Ha! Got them in their tracks," Mercury said with a smirk as the water harp disappeared from her side.

Suddenly there was a cry of terror behind her as Mercury quickly turned around to see the third and final youma, holding one of the Ed's by one of its claw-like fingers up against his neck. He was struggling to get free from where he was.

"Double D!" both Ed and Eddy exclaimed as Mercury narrowed her eyes and cursed to herself in her mind; how could she have missed one?

This just turned deathly serious.

The youma took his left claw and pit it on Double D's forehead, "Oooo, I sense that the first victim of the Soul Busters is a person of Mercury descent. How interesting."

And before anyone could do anything, Double D made an extremely painful gasp as his eyes widened and began to tear up. You could clearly see Double D losing the color of his peach-colored face, replacing it with a ghostly white color. He soon closed his jade orbs as his head turned back to his right.

"That's a good boy; no struggle at all," the youma said as he then let's Double D free from his grasps. Double D collapsed straight to the ground.

"Double D!!!" Ed and Eddy cried as they came over to him, seeing if he was still here.

But it was too late; his soul was taken.

Mercury just stood there for a moment with a shocked expression on her face. She narrowed her eyes as she produced the water harp once again.

“Ha! So much for one of the heroines of justice!” the youma said with a malevolent grin, holding a glowing ball of light in his left hand; it was Double D’s soul, “So long, Sailor Merc--”

“... Rhapsody!!!” waves of freezing water soon blast into the youma, who didn’t even notice it while he was talking. He stood there for a moment, frozen in place until he crumbled into blocks of ice. Double D’s bright soul continued to float in the air where the youma’s hand once posed.

Mercury walked over to the glowing ball of light and put her right hand underneath it; it felt warm in her hand. She then continued to hold it until she was back to Eddy and Ed, who were over Double D’s soulless body.

Soon the ball of light floats out of Mercury’s hand and floats down to Double D’s chest, retuning to its owner. He soon takes in a breath as he opened his jade orbs once again, much to the happiness of Ed and Eddy, “G-Guys?”

“Double D!” Ed and Eddy exclaim in happiness as they glanced at each other, having the same idea, “Dogpile!”

Double D widens his eyes, “Please, no, wait!!!!”

Flop!!!

Ed and Eddy jumped on top of Double D, squishing him like a pancake, “Ouch...”

Mercury smiled at the scene; dear friends can never be separated. She then turned around and ran away before the three Ed’s noticed that she was gone.

“Wait, where’s Mercury?” Double D suddenly asked with worry as the other two Ed’s gave him a weird glance.

“You mean the first rock from the Sun?” Ed questioned.

“No, I think he meant the girl that was just here,” Eddy corrected as they then noticed Double D running down the alleyway without them, “Hey! Wait up, Sockhead!”

Double D was running to find the girl that saved him. Besides the name Mercury, he needed to know what her real name was so that he could thank her personally. It felt like something he had to do.

It was then that Eddy and Ed caught up with him, “Double D, what the heck is wrong with you?!” Eddy asked as he and Ed ran alongside Double D.

“Yeah; don’t go run off like that again, mister!” Ed said while waving his index finger at him.

“I-I’m sorry; I-I just that we’re running terribly late for school!” Double D stated, only half lying in his statement. It was true that they were running late; but then again, he wasn't really worried about that at the moment.

He wanted to find Mercury.

3 - Ami's First Day of American School

Chapter 3: Ami's First Day of American School

(Flashback from the Last Chapter)

It was then that Eddy and Ed caught up with him, "Double D, what the heck is wrong with you?!" Eddy asked as he and Ed ran alongside Double D.

"Yeah; don't go run off like that again, mister!" Ed said while waving his index finger at him.

"I-I'm sorry; I-I just that we're running terribly late for school!" Double D stated, only half lying in his statement. It was true that they were running late; but then again, he wasn't really worried about that at the moment.

He wanted to find Mercury.

(End Flashback from the Last Chapter)

It was about ten minutes later that they arrived at the school with only a few minutes to spare. They quickly rushed to their first block class, which was their science/biology class, and arrived right on time before the tardy bell rang.

"Phew," Double D said while wiping a bead of sweat of the visible part of his forehead, "It seems we've made it here on time."

"Yeah, yeah, yeah, whatever you say," Eddy stated to his comment as they all then went to their seats.

There were not many people in this class; there was only the Ed's, Kevin, Nazz, Rolf and Johnny 2x4 that made up the whole class. Johnny was having a conversation with his inanimate friend named Plank. Nazz was looking over her notes that she took yesterday. Rolf was looking around the room, slightly on the edge for something to happen. And Kevin... well, Kevin was glaring at the Ed's as if he were about to pound each of them in the face with his fists; he concluded that they must've planned that black creature for being there that pushed him off the sidewalk. He was going to prove it!

Soon the teacher quiets the class down, "Okay class, it's time to begin class," he stated before his school phone began to ring beside him, "Oh, excuse me for a moment," he then proceeded to answer the phone, talking to whoever was on the other line. He soon hangs up the phone and turns back to the class, "It seems that we will have a few new students joining us soon."

The whole started to murmur amongst itself; especially among the Ed's.

"Do you think that it's Ami?" Ed questioned.

Double D made a surprised face; of course! He forgot all about Ami at the bus stop. How stupid of him to forget about her.

“Could be,” Eddy replied.

“Class, I would like to announce that the new students will arrive--”

Soon the door of the classroom opens as Ami walks in with another student; it was a boy.

The boy looked to be about thirteen years old when he was really a twelve year old. He had short, bushy platinum blond hair and dark, piercing ice eyes that were mostly covered up by his round, yet square-shaped glasses. He wore a gray t-shirt that went a little past his waist that had a big, black ‘X’ design on the front of the shirt. He also wore a pair of baggy black carpenter pants and black and silver tennis shoes.

“Class, these are our new students to the school,” the teacher said as he turned to Ami and the other boy, “You can introduce yourselves now.”

Ami made a nod as she stepped up to introduce herself, with everyone listening intensely; especially Rolf, because she felt familiar to him. After she introduced herself (AN: I’ve skipped her intro because you and the Ed’s know her already! X3), the white haired boy stepped up.

“My name is Weiss Kissinger,” he said with a slightly suave-like voice, “I come from the state of Oregon, and I moved here because of my mom’s... important job.”

Double D looked at the boy in confusion after the last statement he said; why did he say it that way?

“Okay Ami, Weiss; please take a seat at any empty seat,” the teacher said with a little blandness in his voice as the two kids took a seat. Ami chose to sit in a chair that was next to Double D on his right side. Weiss, on the other hand, decided to sit way in the back, as if he wanted to watch everything that was happening in front of him, “Okay class, let’s begin the class with--”

The teacher was suddenly stopped by Weiss, who had raised his hand for some reason, “Yes, Weiss?”

“May I be excused to the restroom?”

“Well, yes; but please be quick about it,” the teacher said airily as Weiss nodded his head and got up from where he sat at the back of the room.

He walked to the front of the classroom, but not without looking back at the classroom with a slight smirk on his face before he left the room. Ami and even Double D batted an eyebrow at the smirk; what did that gleeful smirk mean? Rolf also noticed the smirk; what was he planning?

Weiss soon walked down the hallway with his hands in his pockets, almost in a jovial mood. And as he walks by the Forbidden Hallway (AN: An abandoned part of the school that no one dared go down... thought you should know), there were a beaming pair of red eyes in the shadows, ready to strike.

~~~~~

About twenty seconds later, in the Science/Biology class...

“Okay, it’s time to start doing your animal kingdom charts,” the teacher said as he passed out papers to the class by their row, “They must be completed by 8:30, please get started so we can then do dissection on a few starfishes,” A few students of the class made a groan as the whole class then started on their animal kingdom charts that they received.

As you can guess, Ed, Eddy and Kevin weren’t really doing their charts, with Ed being distracted by a thought he just had; Eddy was thinking about what kind of scam to do when they could get out of school; and Kevin was thinking of a way to prove that the black creatures from before were somehow involved with the Ed’s (AN: He’s very persistent.).

Meanwhile Nazz, Johnny and Ami were having not too much trouble with their charts, while Rolf was trying to do his, but was still looking around the room as if he was looking for something. And finally, Double D was doing his chart, but was pausing from time to time, looking around the classroom as he did. He was having an eerie feeling all of a sudden, but couldn’t put his finger on what it was. Ami seemed to have the same feeling as well. She was already finished with her chart, so she decided to look around the room, trying to see if she could spot something out of the ordinary.

Suddenly, screams started to erupt from the hallway, interrupting the current flow of thought in the classroom. All of the students in the classroom started to get up from their seats, but was stopped by the teacher, “Now, now class, I’ll go check and see what’s wrong; stay put.”

The teacher then stepped out into the hallway and ran to where they heard the screams. He didn’t come back to the class; instead, he ran in the opposite direction of the class and down the hallway to the office. He had a face full of panic.

The class soon looked at each other with worry; something must’ve happened.

“I’ll go see what’s going on,” Kevin said bravely as he went to the door. He soon stepped out of the classroom and into the hallway. A few seconds later, he came back inside the classroom in a heartbeat, locking the door as he did. He had a face full of horror.

“T-That thing again!” Kevin stated with a shocked voice. He then turned towards the Ed’s and gave a glare, “Who are those guys?!”

“Who?” questioned the three Ed’s, who were confused by his statement.

“Those guys in the monster outfits, that’s what I’m talking about!” Kevin exclaimed as Ami widened her eyes at his statement about ‘monsters’. Rolf only narrowed his eyes, “They’re tearing up the hallway down there!”

Suddenly, there was a very loud ‘bam’ sound as the wall beside the door crumbles to the ground, making everyone duck and cover to protect themselves. There were two youmas standing where the big hole in the wall was, “Ah, more souls to collect for the rising of our queen,” said one of the youmas.

“Rolf knew it!” Rolf suddenly exclaimed, “This is the work of that cursed Dark Kingdom!”

Ami widened her eyes and gasped in shock at what Rolf said, ‘How does he know about the Dark Kingdom?’

Everyone in the room (including the youmas) looked at him and stared, not noticing that Ami was stepping away from the scene by the hole in the wall.

The youmas then could only laugh at the comment, “Yeah right, as if we want to work for that dead witch Beryl!” they continued to laugh, “We only work for Lady Ultima and her generals.”

Rolf narrowed his eyes and turned to the other classmates in the room, “Go now! Rolf can handle this!”

The other classmates all made a surprised face, “B-But Rolf! What about--”

“Rolf shall be fine, Sockhead-Edd-Boy; now get going!” Rolf interrupted him in a somewhat irritated voice.

Double D decided not to argue and started to leave with the other classmates. But as he did, he noticed someone missing from the crowd, “Oh dear, Ami!” he stated with worry as he then ran off to find her.

“Now, how should this begin?” asked one of the youmas to the other.

“I think we should let the kid go first, then steal his soul,” the other youma said to the other.

“Good idea.”

They then turned to Rolf once again, only to see that he wasn’t there anymore, “Hey, where did he go?!”

“Over here, you beast of burden!”

They looked behind them by the hole in the wall to see Rolf with a metal broomstick in his hands. And beside him was Sailor Mercury, her water harp in her hands, “Oooo, a Sailor Senshi has come to help? How amusing.”

“Quiet!” Rolf yelled as he held the metal broomstick in a fighting position, “It’s time for Rolf to end this!”

Rolf then runs over and whacks one of the youmas with the metal broomstick like a baseball bat across its chest, sending that youma flying into the wall on the other side of the room and outside onto the grass.

“What the...” the other youma exclaimed with surprise. The youma then replaced surprised with anger, “Why you little...”

“Mercury... Aqua... Rhapsody!!!” waves of freezing water came from behind him as the water blast into the youma, who didn’t even know it was coming. He stood there for a moment, frozen in place until the crumbled into blocks of ice.

Mercury smirked at her deeds, “Okay, just one more to go.”

She then turned to where Rolf whacked the youma, only to see the youma up off the ground and holding Rolf by the collar of his shirt, “Rolf!”

What Mercury failed to notice that the clouds above them outside were starting to form and turn black; a thunderstorm was coming.

The youma raised its left hand to Rolf’s head, “Hmm, interesting; a person of mixed descent of Jupiter and Pluto,” the youma then made a malevolent smile, “Any last words, human?”

Rolf only made a smirk, “Rolf would like to say that you shall be reduced to a burnt radish!”

“... What?”

KABOOM!!!

A lightning bolt came crashing down from the sky, striking the youma holding Rolf. The youma screams as it then disintegrates into the air, letting go of Rolf as it did.

Rolf fell to the ground to his feet as the clouds in the sky started to disappear, “Ha! No one messes with the Son of a Sheppard!” Rolf said with glee in his voice. Mercury stood there in shock at what she just witnessed.

Rolf then turned to her and said, “Rolf is glad to see you again, Princess Mercury.”

Mercury made a surprised face, “You... know me?”

Rolf nods his head, “Yeah, Rolf is the reincarnation of the prince of Pluto.”

Mercury widens her eyes and covered her mouth in shock at what he just said, “You mean you’re--”

“Yes, Setsuna is Rolf’s sister.”

Mercury was now more confused than shocked; how can Rolf be related to Setsuna when he just did a lightning attack? Aren’t Plutonians suppose to harness the power of time?

Unless...

“... Oh, I’m starting to remember now,” Mercury started to say slowly, “I remember Setsuna did have a brother; one that was born between the affair of the King of Pluto and a woman from Jupiter.”

“That’s right.”

“But how do you know all of this?” Mercury asked Rolf, “Isn’t your memory suppose to be sealed away?”

Rolf put his hand on his chin in a thinking position, “Setsuna unblocked it when Rolf was little after a wolf attacked Nana’s sheep herd,” he said as he went into a slightly deep thought, “Rolf has known of his past life ever since then.”

“Oh, that’s the reason,” Mercury said with an understanding nod of her head, “She did it so you can defend yourself.”

Rolf made a nod of his head as a question came to him, “May Rolf ask what your alias is?”

Mercury made a laugh, “Of course, I’m the new student in your class; Ami Mizuno.”

Rolf slapped himself on his forehead for not realizing it earlier, “Of course, it all makes sense now!”

Not to far away, they both hear voices coming towards them, “Rolf! Ami! Where are you?!”

“Oh, seems like everyone’s looking for me!” Mercury said with a laugh, “I better change back.”

She started to reach into her right front pockets of her pants and grabbed out a baby blue-colored stick that had a dark, blue-colored jewel in the top with two wings on each side of the jewel and a gold engraving of the astrological sign of Mercury on the front of the jewel. She touched the jewel with her left, two index fingers as she glowed bright blue and transformed back into her regular clothes.

Ami then put the henshin stick back into her pocket (AN: The “henshin” translates into “transform” or “transformation”), they both then see the whole class (AN: Plus Jimmy and Sarah, I might add) coming back to the scene.

“Wow Rolf, did you do all of this damage?” Johnny asked.

“Yes; but with the help of Sailor Mercury!” Rolf said as the Ed’s widened their eyes at his statement.

“Y-You mean she was here?!” Double D nearly exclaimed out of his shoes.

Rolf nodded his head, “Yes, and Rolf can sense more Senshi will come soon; for a new threat is about to show its face to Rolf and the Sailor Senshi!”

“What the heck are you talking about Rolf?” Kevin asked, now confused as ever.

“Rolf’s creeping me out, Sarah,” stated Jimmy, who was shaking a little.

Sarah put a hand on Jimmy’s shoulder, “Don’t worry Jimmy, I’m sure nothing like this will happen again.”

“Don’t be so sure,” Ami said with sternness, getting a few surprised looks from everyone except Rolf,

“Everyone will have to keep themselves on guard.”

Nazz arched an eyebrow, “Why say that?”

Ami paused a little before making a smile and saying, “Just trust me.”

Everyone looked at each other with confusion; what did she mean?

4 - Walking Home--Part I--Eddy's Accident and Catty Plank

Chapter 4: Walking Home--Part I--Eddy's Accident and Plank Turns Catty

It was now 12:00pm here in the county of Savannah as we come upon the site of the latest youma attack at Peach Creek Jr. High. The students there were in the class that was attacked were told that they were not coming back to school until the repair to their classroom was done.

It would take about six weeks to complete. As if you couldn't already tell, the whole Cul-De-Sac was happy with the school's decision. That means free time for them! About this time, everyone was going their own way, doing things that they wanted to do; even the Ed's were going in a different direction today.

Eddy had an 'errand' to run at the candy store. The other Cul-De-Sac kids (Kevin, Nazz, Jimmy and Sarah) were all going back together in one group to the Cul-De-Sac on foot, since it was not time for a bus to go get them at school, while Rolf and Johnny 2x4 went another way. Double D, Ed and Ami also went back to the Cul-De-Sac, but in a different direction as the others. And finally, the other new kid named Weiss was walking into a different direction from the others; it was in the direction of the woods near the trailer park.

(AN: But for now, this chapter will stick with Eddy's... fortunate/unfortunate encounter... Oh, and Johnny 2x4's journey back to the Cul-De-Sac)

During the run in with the youma at school, Eddy found a dollar in the hallway. Seeing this as an opportunity to get some jawbreakers, Eddy was going to get those jawbreakers for the three... uh, I mean, the four of them; if you counted Ami, of course.

Eddy was now on his way to the candy store, passing by the slightly crowded sidewalk that he was walking down. Eddy had a look on his face that said "There's a dollar burning a hole in my pocket. Watch me go spend it!"

And as Eddy could see the perimeter of the candy store up ahead...

Bump!

He suddenly fell to the ground, being that he slammed into something on the sidewalk. Eddy rubbed his bum for a second before realizing what he had bumped into was a person; a girl, as a matter of fact.

She seemed to be about his age of twelve years old. She had midnight, black hair that went all the way down to her hips. She was wearing a blood red t-shirt with a pair of rose-colored cargo pants that went down past her knees and black and red sneakers.

"Ouch," she stated with a slight Japanese accent as she looked up at Eddy, revealing dark, violet eyes; they were narrowed with annoyance, "Watch where you're going, baka!"

Eddy narrowed his eyes as they both got up from where they fell, “Me watch where I’m going? What about you watch where you’re going?!”

The girl made a mad glare at Eddy before saying, “Whatever,” and walked away from him in the other direction behind Eddy, “I need to find the others before something happens.”

Eddy arched an eyebrow at the last thing she said as he walked away from him, ‘What did she mean by that?’ he thought, remembering all of the incidences with the black monsters today, ‘Did she mean those monsters?’

It was then that he noticed her crossing the road. What he noticed immediately was that she did look both ways crossing the street but noticed a car that ran a red light up ahead, and the same car was going straight for the girl!

“Hey! Get out of the way!” Eddy tried to shout to the girl, but she didn’t hear him (AN: For what reason, we don’t know). He then started to run to her, so he could shout to her at close range, but she was still oblivious to him as the car came speeding closer; it wasn’t slowing down either.

Something inside him seemed to snap at the moment when the girl noticed that the car was coming. She widened her violet orbs in surprise, like a deer in the headlights of the car. The horror in her eyes... they felt familiar to him.

Quickly, before anything else could go wrong, Eddy ran to the girl and tackled her away from the other side of the street with speed and strength that he didn’t know he possessed. He soon passed out from all the energy he used as he rolled off the girl he saved.

The car then sped past where she was just seconds ago; it just kept on going, as if the person in it didn’t even notice. Surprisingly, this caused no ruckus around the sidewalk that Eddy and the girl landed in; but did only attract two people, who gathered around the two to see if they were okay.

One of them was a twelve year old girl. She had two, long blond pigtails that had a weird hairstyle on the top. She also had bright, ocean blue eyes. She was wearing a dark blue t-shirt underneath a long sleeved, white denim-like jacket that went to her waist; an ordinary pair of blue jeans and a pair of dark blue and white tennis shoes. She also had a ring around her finger (AN: Hmm... I wonder who this is...)

The other person was a boy that was about the age of fourteen years. He had short, bushy black hair and cool, ocean blue eyes. He wore a black t-shirt that went a little past his waist, a pair of khaki shorts and black and silver tennis shoes.

“Oh my god, it’s Rei!” said the blond of the group as the two kids bent down to Eddy and the girl.

The girl started to get up of the ground by hearing her name, “Usagi?” she questioned weakly with surprise.

“Yay! We’ve finally found you!” the blond named Usagi exclaimed happily as she went in for the hug, but quickly backed away once she noticed that the girl named Rei didn’t want to be hugged.

“Who’s this boy?” asked the teen boy as Rei and Usagi looked to see Eddy (AN: or “the boy”, as I will refer him too, since they don’t know his name; yet... okay?) still passed out.

Rei made another surprised face at who saved her, “That kid again? He’s the one who literally ran into me a while ago.”

“Well Rei, it looks like he needs a little help now,” the black haired teen said as he checked for identification on the boy; he saw a wallet chain hanging from his left pocket. Having the idea that his ID would be there, he took the wallet from the boy’s wallet from his pocket and looked inside to find a dollar and the boy’s ID, “His name is Eddy Skipper Wendell (AN: I’ve made up a last name...). He lives at 13943 Peach Creek Blvd. and...”

“Mamoru, I think I know where that is,” Usagi stated with a slight chirp in her voice, “It’s a neighborhood not too far away from here.”

“Gotcha,” the teen named Mamoru said as he picked up the passed out boy named Eddy (AN: As if we didn’t know it already! XD) and followed Usagi to the neighborhood where she thought he lives in, followed by Rei in the rear.

~~~

Meanwhile, while all of this was happening to Eddy, Johnny was walking down the sidewalk on the way to his home in the Cul-De-Sac. There was barely anyone on the street now, scared to come out in fear of monster attacks. Johnny was talking to Plank like always, about how today was a weird-feeling day for him. They then started to talk about the youma attack at school.

“Gosh buddy, you sure do know a lot about what’s going on. How do you know so much?” Johnny said to Plank as he then listened to what Plank had to say next, “... What?” he then held Plank out in front of him to look at him in a skeptical way, “What do ya mean something’s happening to--?!”

Suddenly, there was a bright flash of light from Johnny’s hands where he held out Plank as Plank then turned into something small, soft and fuzzy; a brown-colored cat with white paws. Its eyes were a shade of grass green.

“Plank?!”

As soon as he said that, the cat jumped down and landed in front of him, “Ah, it feels good to move again,” the cat said as he stretched its back out, “I wonder why that curse on me lifted so early?”

Johnny was now confused at this predicament, “Plank, how come you’ve never told me you were a cat before?”

Plank sighed at Johnny’s comment, “Johnny, there’s a reason for this,” he paused for a moment before he continued, “Before I was cursed into the wooden board, I was sent here to protect you until you could be awakened.”

“Protect me? Wake me up?” Johnny questioned, “From what? And I’m already awake.”

“Johnny...” Plank stated to Johnny as he looked up at him, “It’s time for you to start remembering.”

Suddenly, a bright beam of yellow light came from Plank’s forehead, which made a mark appear on Johnny’s forehead; it was the planet sign of Venus (AN: Wow, what a shocker!). Soon the light faded and disappeared from sight from their foreheads.

Johnny blinked a couple of times before saying anything, “... Whoa,” he looked back at Plank while putting his right hand on the right side of his forehead, “I feel different, buddy...”

“That happens sometimes when your memories will be gradually revived,” Plank said.

Johnny nodded and started to notice that there were more people on the sidewalks than before, “Let’s go home, Plank!” the two of them walked down the sidewalk of the street when suddenly...

Wham!

Someone rammed into Johnny from the front, making him fall to the ground on his rear. He looked at who had rammed into him, widening his eyes as he did. Even Plank widened his eyes.

It was a girl that looked the age of twelve. She had a long, blond hair with a bun that was tied with a red ribbon on the tip of her head. She wore a short sleeved, white t-shirt that was underneath a pair of blue jean overalls with a pattern of a yellow star on her left knee. She also wore a pair of yellow and white tennis shoes.

“Ouches,” the girl whined slightly with a Japanese tone of voice as she looked up from where she fell, revealing bright, ocean blue eyes, “Sorry about that,” she said to Johnny as they both then get up from where they fell, “I wasn’t looking at where I was going because I was only trying to find my cat and--”

“Oh, it’s no problem,” Johnny said, not really catching all that she said because she talked a little bit too fast, “Why were you running? Is there someone after you?”

“No,” the girl stated, shaking her head, “I’m looking for my white cat, we got separated a while ago and I can’t seem to find him.”

“Well, maybe I can help you,” Johnny said as he glanced to Plank, “Can you go find her cat, Plank?”

Plank meowed in agreement (AN: Since he didn’t want to reveal his secret in front of the girl) as he went on ahead to find the girl’s cat.

“I’ve never seen you around here before,” Johnny started to say to the girl, “You new around here?”

The girl nodded her head, “Yes, I just got here from, uh, England,” she said with slight hesitation on the location.

“Oh wow, from England?” Johnny stated with awe, “You’re from across the lake?”

“Yep,” the girl said with a little chirp of her lie (AN: And not noticing that Johnny meant “Across the Pond”, not “Across the Lake”). She then extended out her hand to Johnny, “I’m Minako.”

“Hi, I’m Johnny,” Johnny said as he came in to shake her hand. But as they both touched each other hands, Johnny saw something; a girl in a yellow sailor suit, standing in front of him. And as quickly as he recoiled his hand, the girl disappeared, being replaced by Minako.

Minako arched an eyebrow at his sudden shocked expression, “Johnny... Are you okay there?” she started to ask him, “You kinda went pale in the face a little.”

“Yeah... I think I’m okay...” Johnny stated as he then noticed Plank coming back with a black and white cat walking beside him, “Wow Plank, that sure was fast.”

“Artemis, Luna!” Minako said with happiness in her voice, “You’re both okay!” the two cats meowed to her.

Minako then turned to Johnny and made a smile, “Thank you Johnny!” soon a thought came to her as she made a gasp, “Oh snap; I just remembered something!”

Johnny seemed confused at her sudden mood swing, “What wrong?”

“I have no place to stay for the night because I just got here,” Minako explained, “Do you know of a place to stay?”

Johnny thought about it for a moment before coming up with a solution, “Why don’t ya come stay at my place? I’ve got an extra bedroom for you to stay in.”

She widened her eyes at his offer, “Really? You do?”

“Yeah! Me and Plank don’t mind at all!”

Minako made a smile, “Sure, what the heck; I’ll come stay at your place!”

“Good,” Johnny said as he pointed in the direction behind Minako, “The Cul-De-Sac is over in that direction!”

The two preteens and the three cats soon left in the direction where Johnny pointed to, going back to the neighborhood that Johnny called the Cul-De-Sac.

5 - Walking Home--Part II

Chapter 5: Walking Home--Part II--Double D, Ami, Ed and Rolf's Encounters

While all of this was going on with Eddy and Johnny; Double D, Ed and Ami were all walking down sidewalk that Eddy was on a while ago. There were no signs of anything that happened on this particular sidewalk. Double D and Ami were discussing something about the theories of astronomy (AN: Which Ami would know more about... by default, of course).

Meanwhile, Ed was on the lookout for "The Creepy, Soul-Stealing Monsters from the planet Nemesis 42". Suddenly, Ed heard a scream from out of nowhere; a scream for help. He widened his eyes and looked around, only to see that the scream didn't attract any other people's attention but his; even Double D and Ami did not hear the scream.

Double D was the one who noticed Ed's behavior, "Ed? Is there something the matter?"

"Someone's in trouble!" Ed said while looking around; the scream still fresh in his mind, "It was from over there!" and before Double D or Ami could say or do anything, Ed ran to where he thought he heard the scream; up ahead.

"Ed?" both Double D and Ami questioned as they ran after the big lug; Ed never really acted like this unless something was really wrong. The two preteens soon lost Ed, who was still running to the scream he heard in his mind.

"Hotaru!" called a voice from up ahead as Ami perked her head up with alert, "Where are you, Hotaru!"

"Setsuna?!" Ami stated with surprise as she and Double D then see the source of the holler.

It was a young teenage girl that was about fourteen year old. She had long, dark emerald hair that was in a bun at the top and went all the way down to her hips and had majestic, red-violet eyes that seemed to make her older than she originally appeared. She was wearing a white t-shirt underneath a short sleeved lavender dress that went to her ankles and wore a pair of lavender and white sneakers.

"Ami?" questioned the teen as Ami and Double D came up to her, "Oh, thank goodness you're here," she then noticed Double D beside Ami, "Is this the person who you've been staying with?"

"Y-Yes Setsuna," Ami said with a slight blush as Double D blushed slightly at the comment as well.

"Friend of yours, Ami?" Double D asked.

Ami nodded her head as she then turned back to the teen named Setsuna, "Do you know where the others are?"

"I'm afraid not," Setsuna said with a sigh, "I've also lost Hotaru somewhere around here," she bent over and whispered something in Ami's ear, "And she doesn't have her henshin stick; it's with me."

Ami's eyes widened at this information, "We have to find her before something happens!" she then turned to Double D, "Can you help us find my other friend; she's a very frail girl and can easily get hurt."

Double D nodded his head, "Of course I will, Ami."

~~~

Meanwhile, Rolf was walking down the same sidewalk as Double D, Ami and the others were. He was still on the lookout for anything unusual, his brown eyes scanning everything that he passed. Suddenly, he saw Ed running past him; a serious expression on his face... for once.

Rolf arched an eyebrow at this; what was No-Brain-Ed-Boy doing? Something told him that it was a serious situation, so he trusted his instincts and followed Ed to where he was going. Ed then took a sharp turn to the left; down an "abandoned" alleyway, where you could obviously hear some kind of struggle going on down at the end of the alleyway.

"HIYYAAAAA!!!" a sudden voice yelled.

Rolf and Ed quickly ran down the alleyway as they heard a scream down the alleyway; it was a scream of a youma. They soon see two girls; one girl was propped up against the wall of the alleyway, unconscious, while the other girl was fighting off a youma that was closing in on her.

The girl that was unconscious looked to be the age of twelve. She had short, midnight black hair that went to her shoulders. She was wearing a short sleeved, black vest that went to her mid chest, while underneath was a beige-colored shirt. She was also wearing a pair of long, tan colored jeans and wore a pair of purple tennis shoes.

The girl that was being backed into a corner looked to be about the age of twelve, but had the height of a thirteen year old. She had shiny brown hair that was pulled back into a high ponytail with a sea green ribbon and emerald, green eyes. She was wearing a short, green sleeveless top with a mock turtleneck, a pair of white shorts, and white and green tennis shoes. She also had a pair of red, rose-shaped earrings.

The girl smirked at the youma, "Are you ready; are you steady?" she asked as she cracked her knuckles, "Then let's go!"

The youma charged towards the girl, claws extended at her, as the girl waited until the opportune moment. When it was finally time to do something, she kneeled and jumped high in the air, all the way to the tip of the youma's head, which she put her right foot on to jump even higher. She did a flip in the air and landed safely on the ground behind the youma. And as the youma turned around to look at the girl, she lifted her right foot once again and kicked the youma right square in the face; its weak point. The youma screamed as it then disappeared into the air; it was defeated.

The girl then made a sigh as she wiped off a bead of sweat from her forehead, "Phew, it's gone," she then turned her attention towards the unconscious girl. She widened her eyes as she then heard footsteps behind her, "Who's there?!"

"Take it easy, She-Who-Can-Fight," Rolf said as he and Ed came over to her and the other girl, "Ed-Boy and Rolf will not harm you."

The girl looked at him for a few seconds to understand what Rolf just said, "Oh."

Ed was by the other girl's side to see if she was okay, "Are you awake?" he started to ask the unconscious girl, slightly poking her on the shoulder.

"No-Brain-Ed-Boy!" Rolf stated, "Do not mess with She-Who-is-Un--"

Suddenly, to the other girl and Rolf's surprise, the unconscious girl started to stir, opening her dark, almost haunted violet orbs, "I'm awake now... Oh no," she then made a gasp, "Where am I now?"

She then saw the other girl, Rolf, and finally Ed in front of her, "M-Makoto?!" she stated with a stutter as she tried to get up, but failed in doing so.

Ed sort of helped her to her feet by gently grabbing her under her arms and raising her up to her feet, making a goofy laugh as he did, "There ya go; up and at 'em!"

"T-Thanks," the girl stated weakly as she turned to the other girl, "Makoto, who're these boys?"

"I was just about to ask myself," the other girl replied to her.

"I am Ed!" Ed said with a goofy grin. He then pointed to Rolf, "That's Rolf over there."

"Well hi there to both of you," said the brunette, "My name's Makoto," she then pointed to the black haired girl beside her, "And this is Hotaru."

The black haired girl named Hotaru did a polite bow of greeting, "N-Nice to meet you two..."

The four preteens then exited the alleyway and started to walk down the alleyway to the Cul-De-Sac. They were noticed a few people from behind.

"Hotaru, Makoto!"--"Ed, Rolf!" Ami, Setsuna and Double D shouted as they ran up to the four preteens. The four preteens turned around to the source of the voices.

"Ami, Setsuna?!" Hotaru and Makoto stated with surprise as Ami, Setsuna and Double D came up to them.

Rolf widened his eyes at Setsuna, "Sister-Setsuna?"

Setsuna turned to Rolf and made a smile, "Hello Rolf; it's been a while."

Double D, Hotaru and Makoto arched an eyebrow at Setsuna's comment, "You know her, Rolf?"

Double D asked Rolf.

Rolf nodded his head, "Rolf does; Setsuna is Rolf's older sister."

"What?!" Hotaru and Makoto questioned in shock as Double D made a surprised face.

"Well it's nice to see you're doing well, Rolf," Setsuna said. She then looked to Rolf, Double D and Ed, "Do any of you live nearby? Because we just got here and don't have a place to stay in."

"Yes, we all live in the same neighborhood," Double D replied, "It's not too far away from here."

"Good, let's get going; I'm kinda getting tired now," Makoto stated as she stretched a little with her arms.

"Back to the Cul-De-Sac, we go!" Ed said with a slightly enthusiastic voice.

They soon left in the direction where Double D directed to; going back to the neighborhood that Ed called the Cul-De-Sac.

6 - Walking Home--Part III

Chapter 6: Walking Home--Part III--Kevin and Nazz's Involvement... Plus Sarah and Jimmy

Meanwhile, while all of this was going on with Double D, Ed, Rolf and Ami; the rest of the Cul-De-Sac kids (AN: Kevin, Nazz, Sarah and Jimmy... just in case if you forgot) were all walking down sidewalk that everyone else was on a while ago. There were no signs of anything that happened on this particular sidewalk still.

Sarah and Jimmy were both having a conversation to each other about all that happened today. The two kids then stopped by the pet store window to look at all the animals inside and at the window. This made them far behind Kevin and Nazz, who both didn't notice their absence.

Kevin was keeping a close eye out on everyone and everything around him; he didn't want anyone to be hurt by the creepy monsters that would probably show up. And Nazz was looking at Kevin, wondering why he was getting so tense all of a sudden.

"Kevin; is there something wrong?" Nazz asked with slight worryment, "You don't look so good, dude."

"Huh...?!" Kevin looked at her for a split second before saying, "Oh! I-It's nothing."

Nazz arched an eyebrow at his behavior, "Oh, sure."

Suddenly, they both heard screams from behind; it was Jimmy and Sarah's screams.

"Guys?!" Nazz questioned as she and Kevin turned around to see that Jimmy and Sarah were not behind them; they were now missing.

"Dang!" slightly cursed Kevin as he looked around to find them, only to be unsuccessful.

Suddenly, Kevin heard Nazz scream out in terror. He turned to her, only to see Nazz in the clutches of a monster. The monster put its right hand on her forehead; ready to extract her soul, as she struggled to be let free from its grasps, "Ah, what a pretty fetch I've caught for the Soul Busters."

"You get your hands off of Nazz!" Kevin demanded as he looked around frantically for a weapon to help Nazz; any weapon. He found a thick, wooden board that was the same length of a short bat. Kevin wasted no time and went over to pick up the wooden board; but as he did, it seemed as if his heart rate had increased. And when he touched the wooden board with the palm of his hand, a bright light erupted from his hand and from the wooden board.

He covered his eyes at the light as the wooden board soon morphed into something in his hand; it felt metallic and light as a feather. When Kevin opened his eyes again, he was surprised at what he saw. It was a large, dagger-like sword with a gold handle and hilt. The blade was very sharp and had five jewels on both sides of the blade.

'Whoa!' Kevin thought for a split second before turning back to the monster that still had Nazz in its grasps. The monster widened its red eyes at Kevin.

"The Uranus Talisman; the Space Sword," the monster stated as it then made a wicked smile, "Makes me question where the true owner of the sword is."

"Kevin!" stated a voice within Kevin's mind, "I want you to yell out 'Space Sword Blaster' and destroy that freak of darkness!"

Kevin made a smirk at the mysterious voice's instructions as he held out the dagger-like sword in front of him, "Heh, no problem there!"

The sword's blade then started to glow a bright, gold color as he held up the sword over his left shoulder, "Space Sword... Blaster!!!" Kevin shouted as he swung the sword in a downward, right diagonal angle. A wave of bright light comes from the blade of the sword, heading towards the direction of Nazz and the monster that held her captive.

The monster let's Nazz go as it screamed in terror at what was about to come. The wave of light soon collided with the monster on its neck, severing its head from its body. The monster's body soon disintegrated into the wind.

Kevin made a satisfied smirk to himself before he noticed that the sword disappeared out of nowhere, "What the heck was that all about?"

He then remembered something very important, "Nazz!"

Kevin then looked in the direction of where the monster once stood; Nazz was there, standing in front of him with her back towards him. She also holding something in her right hand; it was a gold, handheld mirror.

"Nazz?"

Nazz turned around to face Kevin; it looked as if she were crying a little, "Kevin...?"

"Nazz!" Kevin stated as he ran to her side, "Are you okay now? Did that black thing hurt you?"

"No... no, I'm not hurt," Nazz said as the mirror she held in her hand disappeared; but she and Kevin didn't even notice, not at the moment anyway, "How did you do that... that sword-light thing?"

"I don't know," was Kevin's response, "Some voice in my head told me to say something; and when I did, that attack happened."

Nazz seemed confused and shocked, "You had a voice in your head just now, too?"

Kevin made a surprised face, "You had one, too?!"

“Yeah, it was sorta creepy...” Nazz started to say, “... But I felt like I knew the voice.”

“You do know us,” stated two voices from out of nowhere.

Kevin and Nazz looked behind Nazz and saw something very strange. Behind Nazz were two women, both around the age of twenty.

The first woman had medium length, aquamarine-colored hair that was pulled back from her face with a blue headband and had bright, cerulean blue eyes. She wore a white dress that went to her knees and wore a pair of dressy, white high heels.

The other woman looked too much like a young man at first glance. She had short, boyish blond hair and dark, navy blue eyes. She wore something different than the other woman; she wore a white tuxedo and white dress shoes.

“Whoa!” exclaimed Kevin with surprise, “Who’re you two?!” he then demanded, slightly standing in front of Nazz as he did.

The blond haired woman only smiled at Kevin’s reaction, “We should be very familiar to you overtime.”

The aqua haired woman nodded with agreement, “Yes, we just felt like visiting you two before we both pass over.”

“Pass... over?” questioned the two preteens, “What do you mean?” asked Nazz even further.

The two women looked at each other before they turned back to Kevin and Nazz, “You’ll find out soon.”

And before another question could be asked, the two women vanished into thin air, as if they were a hologram of some sort.

“Take care, little Nazz!”

“I’ll see ya later, Kevin!”

The two preteens stood there for about five seconds before glancing at each other in confusion.

“What the heck was that about?” Kevin asked aloud.

“I’m not sure, dude,” Nazz stated, “How did they know us?”

“Who knows,” Kevin said with a shrug of his shoulders, “Let’s just get--”

“Kevin, Nazz!” shouted two voices from behind them as Sarah and Jimmy came running up to them, “You’re alright!”

“Jimmy, Sarah!” Nazz stated with surprise, “Where were you two?”

“Well, we were right behind you when we were distracted by the puppies in the pet window over there,” Sarah explained, “But when we were trying to catch up with you, we saw a monster coming over to you two. So we went to try to find some help.”

“But we couldn’t find anyone that could help you,” Jimmy continued, “So when we came back, we saw you two just standing here.”

“Well, it’s good that you two are safe,” Nazz said with a sigh.

“Y-Yeah, whatever,” Kevin agreed in his own way with a nod, “Let’s go already; it’s almost one o’clock now.”

Everyone nodded their heads as they all walked back to the Cul-De-Sac. But two women were still fresh on Kevin and Nazz’s minds; who were they? And how did they know them? Little do they know that their mom’s, who are both nine months pregnant, were doing something that’ll change their lives; they were both in labor.

7 - Walking Home--Part IV

Chapter 7: Walking Home--Part VI--Weiss's True Colors and the Colors of the Soul Busters

Meanwhile, while all of that was happening to everyone else, Weiss Kissinger (AN: The new student from Chapter 3... just in case if you guys forgot) was walking through the woods next to the Cul-De-Sac. He was searching for something in the woods, but had no success in finding it yet.

Suddenly, he heard footsteps behind him. He turned around really fast to see who was behind him. It was another boy that was his age. He had short, bushy red hair and unusual, red-brown tinted eyes. He wore something unusual; some type of uniform that was gray, wore black boots and a red cape across his broad shoulders.

"Russo, don't sneak up on me like that!" Weiss stated at the boy.

The red haired boy made a slight smirk, "I was wondering why you were out here?" Weiss shot the boy a look as he continued, "What, and I thought you knew the way back to HQ?"

"I do so know the way!" Weiss shouted back, "... Uh, which way, again?"

Russo made an irritated sigh, "It's over there. You know; just past the sinister-looking trees and into the moss-covered cave..."

"Okay, I get the picture!" Weiss stated angrily, "Geez, as if I'm gonna get lost again..."

"I know you will."

"Shut up!"

~~~

Meanwhile, while Russo and Weiss were arguing about how Weiss gets lost easily all the time (AN: And heading back to HQ, I might add), there was another argument ensuing in a black-stoned castle that was located past the sinister-looking trees and inside the creepy, moss-covered cave.

This was the Headquarters for the Soul Busters.

Anyway, the other current argument was being argued in the General's Quarters, where all of the generals of the Soul Buster's sleep; and, in particular, it was being argued in General Kin's room, which was full of mirrors. The argument was between who broke Kin's favorite handheld mirror.

"I know it was you Midori!" exclaimed a boy with blond hair and equally golden eyes, which were glaring at the girl with him in the room.

“Now be serious Kin!” stated a green haired girl with emerald orbs, “You know I didn’t break your stupid mirror!”

“Well, who else could it have been?!”

There was a long pause before they both exclaimed:

“Alani!!!”

Soon an orange haired girl with bright orange eyes appears out of nowhere and drops down in front of the two other bickering preteens, “Yes?” she sang a little as she asked, “You rang?”

“Alani, did you break my mirror?” Kin asked.

Alani made a guilty look, “Well... I accidentally did.”

“I knew it!” Kin exclaimed, “You’re the only one around here who would do this!”

“But it was an accident!” Alani stated with a bit of sadness, “You know clumsy I can be sometimes.”

Kin made a sigh, “We all know that, I guess...” but then he made an irritated face, “Well, now that my favorite mirror is broken, how am I going to look at my pretty face now?”

Midori and Alani both rolled their eyes, “You’re such a narcissistic, Kin,” Midori stated.

“Yes; yes I know,” Kin stated as he was looking at himself in a mirror that was hanging from the wall of his room. Midori and Alani soon walked out of his room and went to their own.

~~~

Meanwhile, back with Weiss and Russo, they were now entering the castle’s front gate and heading to the location of the General’s Quarters.

“So, how was your first day of school?” Russo asked Weiss.

“It wasn’t that bad, actually,” Weiss replied, “How was your trip back to Juuban?”

“It was good. Gathered up a few more souls from there,” Russo stated, “But there was no sign of the Sailor Senshi anywhere in Juuban.”

“Hmm...” Weiss thought aloud, “... Maybe it was because of Mercury’s disappearance when we attack them at Sailor Moon’s wedding...?”

Russo arched an eyebrow, “What’re trying to say?”

“I’m saying that maybe that all of the other Sailor Senshi are here now; in Peach Creek,” Weiss concluded, “Remember; the Sailor Senshi have Mars as their psy--”

“Grr, don’t mention her,” Russo growled, “Don’t you remember what she did you me a thousand years ago, along with her shrimp of a servant knight?”

Weiss made a sigh, “Right, I forgot for a moment; you don’t like her name to be mentioned.”

“Darn right!” Russo stated sourly, “It was like you and that boy Duo.”

Weiss shot him a glare; that comment brought back a few memories that he would rather forget. They soon arrived to their location.

“Well, I have something to do in my room,” Weiss said as he started to walk into the direction of his room, leaving behind Russo, who was already at his room door.

“You’re gonna start crying about Princess Ami, aren’t you?”

“Shut up Russo; that’s not really funny anymore!” Weiss shouted as he slammed his door behind him.

Russo shook his head in hopelessness, “As the leader of all the generals, he sure can be sensitive,” with that said, Russo entered his room.

It was then that someone came out of their room and walked over to Weiss’s room. It was a blue haired, blue eyed girl, “Weiss?”

Soon Weiss answered the door, “What is it, Azure?”

“I thought I heard you shouting a second ago,” the blue haired girl named Azure stated, “Is there anything wrong?”

“No Azure, there’s nothing wrong,” Weiss replied, “I was yelling at Russo about something, that all; no biggie!”

Azure made a somewhat sad face, “Oh... well, I guess I’ll see you later then.”

Weiss nodded his head, “Yeah, see ya!”

With that said, Weiss closed the door of his bedroom, leaving Azure standing there. Azure made a sigh to herself, “Weiss... Why don’t you understand me sometimes...?” She then went back to her room and closed her door.

~~~

Meanwhile, in the throne room of the castle, we see a figure sitting on the throne that was actually chiseled out of black stone. The figure had a round, dark sphere that was sitting in front of the throne.

The figure was a woman that looked to be in her mid-twenties. She had long, wavy orange hair that went to her hips and dark, violet eyes that were almost black in color. She wore a black, skin tight dress that slightly showed her, uh, “cleavage” (AN: But not too much... think of it like Queen Beryl’s dress, except her dress is black, not purple).

She held a tall, black and silver staff with a gray star on the top of the staff. The star had a gold ‘X’ mark on it. In the sphere was an image of all of the Sailor Senshi and a few other people with them.

“So... they are all here,” the woman said with slight amusement, “How very entertaining for me.”

The images soon disappeared from the sphere as she then said, “Come, Generals of the Elements; I need all six of you at my side!”

Soon six colored portals formed in front of the woman. There was white (Weiss), red (Russo), gold (Kin), blue (Azure), green (Midori), and finally orange (Alani). All six of the preteens soon bowed to the woman, “Yes, Lady Ultima?”

“I want all of you to attack this little neighborhood sometime tomorrow,” the woman named Lady Ultima ordered as the sphere showed an image of a small neighborhood; the Peach Creek Cul-De-Sac, “This is where some of the Sailor Senshi are currently hiding. Collect the local’s souls and destroy anyone that gets in your way,” she then paused before she spoke, “... And do not let revenge for some of the Senshi consume any of you; I need them here... alive.”

“Yes Lady Ultima,” stated all of the preteens in front of her as they disappeared in their represented colored flashes.

Lady Ultima made a smirk, “Soon it’ll be my time to rule this puny Earth...”

She then starts to laugh like crazy... like all psychopaths do in their spare time!

8 - Eddy's Scary Vision and Strange Behavior

Chapter 8: Eddy's Scary Vision and Strange Behavior

It was a peaceful one o'clock afternoon here in the Peach Creek community as we come upon the little neighborhood; the Peach Creek Cul-De-Sac. The street leading up to the parking circle was not full of kids at the moment, mainly because it was a school day today. But the whole school system was closed a while ago do to an unusual kind of attack at the middle school; Peach Creek Jr. High. Why isn't there anyone home yet?

Ah, but wait. We soon see a few people running to the Cul-De-Sac; it was Rei, Usagi and Mamoru (AN: Who we all met back in Chapter 4), with Mamoru still holding a passed out Eddy (AN: Aww... so cute!).

"Okay, which house does this kid live in?" Mamoru asked, "My arms are getting a bit sore."

Usagi read his I.D. again to check the address, "He lives in... that house over there," she then pointed to a house.

"Good," Rei stated with a nod as the three of them went to one of the nearby houses. They found Eddy's keys in his right pocket and opened the front door of his house, leaving the front door open as they did.

Meanwhile, while they entered the house, Double D, Ami, Ed, Hotaru, Rolf, Makoto and Setsuna were now entering the Cul-De-Sac. Ed was the one who noticed Eddy's door being wide open, "Double D, Eddy's front door is wide open."

Double D, Rolf and Ami looked in the direction of Eddy's house while Hotaru, Makoto and Setsuna glanced to where the others were looking.

"Odd," Double D stated, "Eddy never leaves his door wide open like that..."

"Rolf suspects something is afoot," Rolf said.

Ami nodded her head, "We should probably check on him."

They all soon head to Eddy's house, not really noticing that they were seen by Kevin, Nazz, Jimmy, Sarah, Johnny and Minako (AN: And with Plank, Artemis and Luna by Johnny and Minako's side, of course), who all came walking into the Cul-De-Sac shortly after the others did..

(AN: Okay, I made Johnny and Minako meet Kevin and the others before they all reached to the Cul-De-Sac, so it can be easier on my to type, okay?)

"Oh great, I think the Dorks are to something again," Kevin said with an irritated sigh.

Minako widens her eyes at some of the people in that group, “Ami, Hotaru; Makoto, Setsuna!”

Everyone arched an eyebrow at Minako, “You know those girls with them?” Johnny asked.

“Of course,” Minako said as she ran to the group of people that were now entering Eddy’s house. The other kids soon followed.

~~~

(AN #1: This is Eddy’s unconscious mind... just in case if anyone gets confused.)

(AN #2: Oh, and on a random note, I actually wrote this part of the chapter a long time ago; about two years ago in my first semester sophomore year of high school... I just always wanted to use this piece I wrote for something. And now seems the right time that I can do it! And yes, I was a little bit more morbid around this time because of a case of depression... so hold onto you sockhats, people!)

(AN #3: Oh, and also note that I took this scene out of the American Dubbed Anime of Sailor Moon (First Season to be exact), and it may not be word for word on the Japanese Anime, but you’ll see that it ends the same way... but I added a part to it at the end, just so you’ll know...)

It was total darkness in Eddy’s dream as Eddy looked around for anyone.

“Ed, Double D? Where are you guys?!” Eddy shouted in the darkness as the scene started to change from the darkness to the North Pole, “Huh? What the heck’s all this?!”

“Sailor Moon... I think you need to face Beryl alone...” said a voice from behind as Eddy quickly turned around to see two young teenage girls (AN: About the age of fourteen) in mini skirts, one red and one dark blue.

“W-What are you talking about Mars-chan? Are you bailing out on me?!” said the girl in the dark blue skirt, Sailor Moon, to Mars, the one in red.

“No, it’s just... these Doom & Gloom Girls are too much for me...” Mars said with a tear in her eye.

“Well we’ll come back later, when we’re stronger and ready to fight!” Sailor Moon pleaded with her as they both (AN: Including Eddy) saw two of the remaining Doom & Gloom Girls up ahead, waiting for the two girls to come towards them.

“It’s time for me to go, Sailor Moon-hime...” Mars said as she started to walk ahead and Sailor Moon just gasps.

“Oh no wait! I don’t want you to do this! You don’t have to protect me!” Sailor Moon cried at her as she ran over to her and stopped her from moving any further.

“Yes I do. Protecting you and the crystal was my destiny. Just like being the Princess has always been yours,” Mars said as she then started to walk ahead towards the two D&G Girls and gave Sailor Moon a little peace sign for victory, “See ya, gotta teach these Doom & Gloom Girls not to mess with fire!”

With that said she went on ahead, leaving Sailor Moon behind and making Eddy all confused and scared on what his dream was trying to tell him.

Meanwhile, back with Mars, she was getting ready to do a fire attack, as the two D&G Girls went straight into the ground, both beside Mars.

“Huh? W-Where did they go?!” Mars gasps as she looked around for them, not seeing a sign of them anywhere.

Suddenly, a huge mountain of ice comes from underneath her feet and sends her straight into the air, screaming.

“No! Sailor Mars!!!” Sailor Moon gasps in horror as the mountain starts to split into two, revealing a mouth, and swallows Mars whole.

‘Holy crap?! That mountain just ate her!!!’ Eddy thought in horror.

Then, a few seconds later, Eddy then started to change scenes. He was now in the mountain with Mars and the two D&G Girls.

Mars was charging up for an attack, with her hands in a prayer and her two index fingers pointed out like a gun, “Mars Fire... Soul!!!” she shouted as a ball of hot fire came from the tip of her index fingers and shot it at the nearest D&G Girl, who was hit with the fire and was burned to a crisp, making the last D&G Girl extremely mad.

“Grr, you’re gonna pay for that you little wretch!” the D&G Girl said as she was getting ready to attack her with a ball of dark energy, while Sailor Mars was charging up for another fire attack.

“Mars Fire... Soul!!!” Mars shouted, sending the ball of fire at the D&G Girl, as the D&G Girl sent her ball of dark energy towards Sailor Mars.

The two attacks met each other head on, making a huge explosion that sent Sailor Mars and the D&G Girl into the walls of the mountain. The D&G Girl died on impact, while Mars just screamed in pain and fell back to the ground, not moving, only landing a few feet from where Eddy was watching from, face down.

“Oh my god! Are you okay?!” Eddy said to her as he went over to her beaten up body and turned her over to see if she was okay.

Her face seemed so peaceful after being in a battle to the death as she then opened her bright, violet orbs once more to see if anyone was there, “W-W-Who’s t-there?”

“... D-Don’t worry, e-everything’s going to be okay now,” Eddy replied back, knowing that, in a dream, even if you say something, she probably wouldn’t hear him and/or reply back, but he didn’t care, “I-I’ll get you out of this creepy mountain.”

“... T-Thank you, whoever you are... but I h-have to go somewhere e-else now...” she replied quietly back to him as Eddy just made a face of pure shock, “... but I thank you... for your kindness... like always...” she whispered as her head then tilted toward the side and slowly stop breathing.

“Sailor Mars!!!!” Eddy heard Sailor Moon scream at the top of her lungs from outside the mountain as he (AN: And Sailor Moon, let’s not forget about her!) heard a voice in their heads.

“See you around Meatball Head! Go teach Queen Beryl a thing or two!” said the voice of Sailor Mars, “... And thank you for comforting me... whoever you were... You felt familiar to me... servant knight,” Sailor Mars said to Eddy in his mind as he and Sailor Moon could just feel her passing away from the Earth, making Eddy feel like running after her spirit... but he couldn’t.

Sailor Mars was now dead, and there was nothing he could do about it. His tears started to fall towards the ground for the pretty girl in red as he then started to wake up from his hellish nightmare...

(AN: Sorry if confuses anyone... I just felt like being dramatic after doing a chapter with humor! I am evil like that! I guess you can say that this is a flashback vision from Rei to Eddy, like Eddy is a little bit psychic himself, having the power of seeing other people’s memories in his dreams... I guess? Great, now I’m confused! Oh well... I’ll think about it later!)

~~~

“AHHH!!!” screamed Eddy as he woke up. He then realizes that what he experienced was a dream instead of something real, “... W-What the heck was that about?!”

He also noticed that he was in his bedroom, “Wait a minute... How did I get back to my house? I thought I was going to the--” he stopped himself from saying anything further as he looked at his clock on the wall; it was now eight o’clock now.

It was when he was looking at his clock that he remembered what happened on the sidewalk earlier in the day, “... Oh! T-That girl! Where is--”

“Eddy?” questioned a voice from down the hallway as Double D came into the room, “Eddy! You’re alright!”

“Eddy!” stated another voice from behind Double D. Ed came barging into his room and was giving Eddy his famous ‘Ed Hugs’, “We were so worried about you, mister! Are you hurt? Is your brain in the right place? Why are you turning blue? Where is my butter--?!”

“Good lord, Ed!” Double D exclaimed as Ed then dropped Eddy to the ground like a sack of potatoes, by Double D’s command, “You were about to asphyxiate Eddy!”

“Uh...” it took Ed a second to realize what Double D meant by what he said, “... Oh, oops,” he muttered weakly.

“Yeah, thanks Ed,” Eddy stated with slight sarcasm. Ed made a gullible, yet slightly weak laugh at his response.

Double D rolled his eyes at Eddy's behavior; when will he ever change?

Double D remembered the reason he came to Eddy's room for (AN: Besides hearing Eddy scream, of course), "Oh! That's right!" he then turned to Eddy, "Eddy, Ami found a few of her friends that she was separated from."

Eddy arched an eyebrow, "So?"

"So, unless if I'm mistaken, one of them was the girl that you saved from being hit by a car," Double D explained.

Eddy widened his eyes at this turn of event, "What?!" he exclaimed rather loudly.

Soon an image from his dream seemed to have flashed back into his mind; Mars's dying, violet eyes were imprinted into his brain. They were the same hue as the girl he saved an hour ago.

Eddy's foggy orbs widened even more at the same connection, "Where is she?" he asked, sounding a little bit demanding.

Double D and Ed were both surprised at his tone of voice, "Why, she's in your living room with Ami and her--"

But before Double D could finish the rest of his sentence, Eddy was already running out of his room, heading to his living room.

Double D arched an eyebrow at Eddy's unusual behavior, 'Strange... since when did Eddy seem to care about someone besides himself, Ed and me?' he shook that thought out of his head and turned to Ed, who was standing there in a daze; most likely daydreaming, "Come on Ed, we better see what Eddy is planning."

Ed snapped out of his fantasized thought and made a toothy grin, "Right behind ya, Double D!"

The two Ed's soon left Eddy's room and headed to his living room. But as they walked to the living room, they saw Eddy standing at the edge of the wall leading to his living room. He was peaking around the corner to look at all of the people in his living room. Double D and Ed gave each other a quizzical look before glancing back at Eddy.

"What's wrong, Eddy?" Ed asked.

Eddy jumped a little bit out of his shoes before quickly turning around to face his two friends, "What? I-I'm not doing anything!"

"We didn't say that you were doing anything," Double D said, slightly confused, "Why don't you go in and meet Ami's friends? It would be rude not to."

Eddy gave his friends a nervous glance before looking around the corner and then back at them,

“W-What if I don’t want too!”

“Well, you’re going to have to; since they’re in your house after all,” Double D replied.

Ed soon had an idea, “Boing; idea!”

Eddy and Double D looked at Ed for a second in confusion before replacing their facial expressions to surprise. Ed picked up Eddy from under his arms and walked to the direction of Eddy’s living room; exposing Eddy to the people in the living room.

Of course, this got everyone’s attention because of Eddy yelling at Ed, “Put me down now, Lumpy!”

“Roger Eddy!” Ed replied as he dropped him, with Eddy landing flat on his bottom.

Eddy made a growl at Ed before he realized that he was out in the open of everyone in the living room. Ami, Johnny, Rolf, Sarah and Jimmy were there; with Nazz and Kevin absent from site. The rest of them he’s never really seen before.

But his foggy blue gaze fell upon a certain black haired girl; her violet orbs looking him, “You feeling alright now?” she asked Eddy.

Eddy felt like he had a lump in his throat, but still managed to stutter a little, “Y-Yeah, I’m okay.”

Everyone in the room who knew Eddy seemed to notice immediately that Eddy was acting strange by the sound of his voice. It was Ami who quickly concluded to herself that Eddy could have gained a crush on her friend.

The girl made a sigh, “That’s good; didn’t what you to die on us back there, umm... Eddy, was it?”

Eddy made a nervous laugh, “Yeah, t-that’s my name. A-And your name’s...?”

“Oh, I’m Rei,” the girl said with a smile.

After that little introduction, the other girls (AN: And the teen who carried him home, duh) introduced who they were to him. And after everyone introduced who they were and such, they decided who would stay where. They then came up with a chart to see who could stay where.

“Okay,” Double D started to announce, “So we have Ami at my house; Usagi and Mamoru at Ed and Sarah’s house; Setsuna and Hotaru at Rolf’s house; Makoto at Jimmy’s house; and Mina at Johnny’s house... That seems about right.”

“But where does that put me?” Rei questioned, “Does no one else have another guest bedroom to spare?”

Double D looked at the chart again and made a sad face, “I’m afraid not; they’re all now occupied.”

Rei made a little sigh of sadness, “Oh well; I guess I’ll have to find a hotel to--”

“Now hold on a minute there, Rei,” Eddy’s voice stated as everyone turned to Eddy to see what he was going to say, “Y-You can stay here; at my place.”

“Really?!” Rei questioned with a wide, beaming smile.

“Really Eddy?” questioned Double D, “But where would she sleep if she did?”

“My room...”

Everyone widened their eyes; what the heck did he mean by that?!

“... But not like that!” Eddy quickly replied, turning a barely visible bright red at the mere thought, “I-I mean, I’ll sleep on my couch, of course.”

“Why Eddy! That’s very generous of you!” Double D stated with complete shock and slight happiness.

“When did Eddy get this generous?” questioned Jimmy to Sarah in a whisper.

Sarah thought about it for a second before she widened her emerald eyes; coming up with a shocking, yet simple conclusion, “No way...” she started to say to Jimmy in a whisper like he did before, “I think he likes her!”

Jimmy widened his eyes at the thought, “Whoa, you mean like--?!”

“Yeah; I think so!”

The two of them paused for a second before chuckling to themselves at the thought. Unfortunately, the little chuckling duo was heard by Ed, who took a while to figure out what Sarah and Jimmy were whispering about.

“... Oh,” Ed stated, with the wheels in his head turning a little at the connections between the conversations and Eddy’s strange behavior, ‘Is that the reason?’

“Umm, I don’t mean to be rude,” Mamoru started to say to everyone as everyone turned to him, “But do mind if we discuss something in the kitchen? It’s kind of private.”

The Cul-De-Sac kids (AN: Except Rolf, I might say) arched an eyebrow at his request, “Umm, yeah, sure you can,” Eddy stated as Ami, Usagi, Mamoru, Rei, Makoto, Mina, Hotaru and Setsuna all went into his kitchen to discuss something.

It was quiet in the living room before someone broke the silence, “... Double D?”

“Yes Ed?”

Ed bent over to Double D’s ear to whisper, “Do you think Eddy’s acting different because of the pretty girl he rescued?”

Double D widened his eyes and turned a little pale, realizing that this could've been what was wrong in Eddy's usual behavior, "Of course; that could be it Ed."

Plank and even Rolf also heard Ed's whisper and made a little smile, 'So, his past feelings are starting to show up,' Plank thought, 'Should've expected as much.'

Johnny noticed Plank's smile and wondered what he was smiling about; but then decided to ask him later about it.

It was about ten seconds later that the people in the kitchen came back into the living room, "Well, I guess we better part now."

Soon everyone left to their assigned houses, leaving only Eddy and Rei in Eddy's living room.

"... So, your room is the last room down the hall," Rei stated as she turned to him, "Am I right?"

"Y-Yeah, that's right," Eddy said with a nod.

"... Well, I better get going to bed," Rei said with a little yawn as she walked off to Eddy's room, but she paused to say, "Goodnight Eddy."

Eddy froze a little at her voice, but said, "G-Goodnight Rei!"

She then proceeded to walk down the hallway to Eddy's room and closed his door behind. Eddy soon set himself up for bed as he went to his parent's bathroom to change (AN: Don't worry, I make his parents work late for this story!). But as he was going by his room, he decided to check on her to see if she was okay. He saw her sleeping in his bed, sleeping peacefully. A warm feeling seemed to wash him over as he looked at her.

Suddenly, an image of some sort seemed to pop into his mind.

It was Rei, but she looked way different than she does now. She was wearing a long, crimson red dress with puffy straps. The dress went to her ankles. She was lying in a very fancy, red satin bed; presumably sleeping for some reason. Sitting beside her in a chair near her bed was a kid that was her age... the kid looked way too much like Eddy; it was scary. Everything about this boy looked the same; even his height and hairdo of three, dark blue hairs. The only thing that was different from him was his clothes (AN: Which I do not want to go into detail as of the moment... Except it looks like something Mamoru's past life, Prince Endymion, would probably wear, okay?). For an unknown as of now, he had a sword on his belt.

(AN: Okay, here's an Eddy Flashback! Lights... Camera... Action!)

Soon the girl who looked like Rei seemed to start waking up, revealing her bright, violet orbs, as this got the attention of the kid who looked like Eddy, "What... happened?" the Rei look-a-like stated weakly as she clutched to her left shoulder in pain.

“Hey, take it easy, Princess Rei,” the Eddy look-a-like stated with slight worry; his voice was the same as it was now; proving that what he was seeing was himself, “Don’t injure yourself even more than you have.”

The Rei look-a-like named Princess Rei looked at him with surprise, “Eddy... what happened? Where’s Prince Russo?”

Eddy looked at the princess with pity, “You don’t remember, do you...?”

“Remember what?” Rei questioned.

“Russo attacked you two days ago,” Eddy bitterly explained, “When King Ares arrested him for treason, he said, “If I can’t have her, no one ever will.” ...”

Rei looked at him with shock, “I... remember now; he said he liked me; but he wanted to be my boyfriend. But when I said no, he... he...”

“Attacked you?”

“... Yeah, he did.”

“... That jerk,” Eddy growled, “Just because he’s the Prince of Phobos doesn’t mean he can get away with...” he then made a pause before he said, “... Your attempted murder,” he finished painfully.

Rei made a sad sigh, “I-I also remember hearing you yelling at him in the background before I fell unconscious,” she then gave him a confused look, “What were you doing out in the garden that night, anyway?”

Eddy made a surprised face, flushing red as he did, “Oh! I, uh, was just, umm... I was, uh, just walking by when I heard you two arguing.”

“Oh... really?”

“Yeah.”

The two of them sat there for a couple of seconds before one of them broke the silence, “Eddy?”

“Yeah?”

“I... I... I need to tell you something important.”

“Huh? What’s the problem princess?” Eddy asked as Rei then took in a deep breath and turned towards him.

“Eddy, I need to ask you a question, and I want you to be honest with me,” Rei said to Eddy, “Do you... like me?”

“Well, of course I like you! You’ve been a friend to me since I was little, why wouldn’t I like you?”

“No, no, that’s not what I meant!” Rei sighed to him, “What I mean is... is that do you LIKE me... like me.”

Now, for once in his life, he was flabbergasted, as his face turned beet red and didn’t know what to say at first, “O-O-Of course I like you like you... I... I always have been...”

“Oh Eddy... I... I’m so happy!” Rei stated happily to him as she hugged him with a smile on her face, making Eddy blush even more.

She liked him; he liked her. Two different souls; bonded together by the fate of the stars above them. And that bond... was love.

Rei then lets him out of her embrace as they then gazed into each others eyes. Foggy blue gazed at bright violet. They both leaned towards each other. Coming closer... ever so closer... and then... contact.

They’ve made their first kiss.

They then separated from each other, as they opened up their eyes again to look at one another.

“I love you Eddy.”

“... I love you too, Rei.”

They then hugged each other for the longest time, until it was time for them to part for the night... or, at least until Eddy came back to reality from his flashback.

~~~

Eddy blinked a couple of times before he looked at Rei and blushed a beet red, ‘W-What the heck did I just see there?!’ he thought to himself in straight out confusion, ‘Was that really me and... her?’

A warm feeling came over his heart as he glanced at her once more, “... Nah, couldn’t be...” he stated before he closed his door and went to the couch in the living room and fell fast asleep.

Little does he know that he and the others would be put to the ultimate test tomorrow...