1 - a step-by-step guide

There will only be one chapter since there are only a few basics you need to know...

How to administer a pill of medicine to your cat in 29 easy steps:

[ol]

- Hold cat's mouth open and place pill inside.

- Head to bathroom and place a band-aid on your bitten finger.
- Search and find the spit out pill under your rug.
- Immobilize cat with one hand while inserting the pill into mouth with the other.
- Head back to the first aid kit and bandage the scratches and cuts on your arm.
- Find nail clippers and clip cat's claws.
- Wait patiently for cat to finish display of anger.
- Get new pill.

- Go to store and buy a cardboard tube.
- Place cat in tube leaving head sticking out.
- Stop tube from shaking wildly with one hand while administering the pill with the other.
- Patiently remove pieces of shreaded cardboard from room.
- Remove half chewed pill from your hair.
- Take a moment to cry over your failed attempts.
- Head to bedroom and grab a pillow.

- Smother cat with pillow, leaving head out.
- Wrestle pill into cat's mouth.
- Remove cat from curtain.
- Remove pill from your hair.
- Change environment, go to kitchen.
- Plot downfall of cat using sharp objects as inspiration.

- Put the knives and sharp objects down and settle for having a popsicle instead.
- Quickly stop cat from chewing through the wire of the toaster.
- Sneak up on cat from behind, scaring it and shoving the pill into mouth as fast as possible.
- Recover from uncounciousness and quickly stop the small fire now engulfing the toaster.
- Open all windows to let smoke out.
- Chase after the cat now escaping though open window.
- Lie down for a rest after running around hopelessly for hours.

- Give up and decide cat has won (afterall, this has cost you way too much money, time and energy)
