1 - it appears

Somewhere in the forest near the city

12:38 am

A large bright object streaked across the night sky. Few were awake to see this strange glowing object fly thorough the cold air. With a loud thunderous explosion the glowing object crashed in the earth of the forest. Dirt and grass flew everywhere as the strange space object sat in its crater. 2 drunken teenagers who were in the forest returning home from a beer party saw the strange glowing crater, and in their curiosity they drunkenly waddled over to the foul smelling pit. Both looked into the crater hoping to find something of value. In the pit was a rather large glowing craft, one that obviously not of earthly origin. An arm thrust out of the craft's wall. A creature that neither of the drunken teenagers had ever seen crawled out of the freshly made hole. "WHOAAAA an alien" said the blond haired teen male. "yeah, sooo cool" responded the brown haired male. Upon hearing these words the creature jerked its head in the teen's direction. It seemed to study them for 2 seconds, then it opened its mouth and screeched, at the same time a second mouth came stretching out from inside the first. The teens just stood there clueless as to what was happening. The creature then leapt at the teenagers and tore both apart with its razor like claws, teeth and tail.

The next morning the 2 teens were found lying in a large puddle of blood and guts. Unearthly bloodied footprints led off into the city...

2 - the law of the house

Ultee lay on the couch in front of the television. The television blaring about the weekly news which bored Ultee to sleep. Shepherd walked in and noticing the TV was on and that his father was asleep, he changed the channel and began to watch South Park, a show his parents, Ultee and Meerkat, forbid him and his sister from watching. Despite the loud volume of the TV Ultee still slept. Attracted by curiosity of what the sound she was hearing, Ultee and Shepherd's mother, Meerkat walked in stirring a bowl of mash potatoes for dinner. Shepherd had not noticed that his mother walked in and was now aware that he was watching the show that was the most forbidden. Meerkat was angry, but calmly put down the bowl on the small column table next to the couch, which made a small tapping noise as it touched. Shepherd noticed the noise and quickly turned around to see his mother furious at him. Shepherd laughed nervously. "WHAT ARE YOU DOING WE TOLD YOU NOT TO WATCH THAT SHOW!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!" yelled Meerkat. Shepherd just tried faking looking guilty to escape her wrath. Meerkat picked up Shepherd by the collar of his outfit. Shepherd knew what was coming, his mother would take him to Dalmation or Blackcat for a non-violent, yet effective punishment, like Dalmation would talk about politics from a book he found on the street 5 years ago, to him for an hour and he had to listen to him talk till he understood what Dalmation was saying or Blackcat would chain him down and force him to watch a VEEEEERRRRYYYY lousy 1950's movie and memorize the actors, the worst punishment he could face was, he would be forced to watch 13 episodes of Barney back to back. Meerkat took Shepherd to Dalmation's house. "NOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO" screamed Shepherd. Back at Ultee's and Meerkat's house the TV's noise finally woke up Ultee from his deep slumber. "huh" said Ultee as he woke up. Ultee stared at the news on the TV. "2 teenagers were brutally massacred today, as to what killed the young boys is unknown, all authorities found were these bloody foot prints" said the reporter on the news. "crap...this can't be good" Ultee said to himself...

3 - Alien strikes

The creature sat like a gargoyle would on top of the tall building, merely watching the people that seemed liked ants to it. A man walked came through the door and stood in shock at the sight of the creature. The creature could smell the cologne upon the man and turned around with a jolt. In a split second the creature was in mid-air giving off its unearthly screech. The man tries to run but the creature lands on him and pins him to the ground. The man screamed for 2 seconds before the creature bit into his throat and killed him. The creature got off the now dead man, it merely looked upon its kill for a few seconds, then went back to its perch on the ledge of the building and continued to watch the people below. After about 45 minutes of watching, the creature lumbered over to the door. It looked upon the lock, it having no idea as how to operate the door handle it ripped whole door off its hinges and crawled down the steps of the stairs. The people inside the building, upon noticing the creature, screamed in shear terror. The creature seemed to smile before it leapt at panicking crowd. With no weapons around the office people were easy prey for the creature to massacre. Soon, with all the people on that floor dead, the creature crawled out the window and down the backside of the building.

4 - first fight

Ultee walked out the house and looked at his surroundings. "I'm going to be in the city for a while" shouted Ultee to his wife. "okay" replied Meerkat. Ultee walked to the city to look for anything that could be a threat to any innocents. Meanwhile, on the wall of the building, the creature crawled down into the dark alleyway. The creature leapt off the wall and onto the ground, its foot crushing a can as it landed. Hearing the noise of the can being crushed, Ultee, who happened to be by the alleyway, ran into the dark alley. The creature had crawled up the wall before Ultee ran in, now, being hidden in the shadows, it knew it had the element of surprise. The creature gave off its unearthly screech and leapt at Ultee slashing his elbow with its razor sharp claws. Ultee pulled out his lasersword and swung at the creature. The creature easily evaded the blade. The creature seemingly disappeared into the shadows. Ultee cautiously walked farther down the alley, waiting for the creature to strike. The creature hung upside-down on a gutter high above Ultee, watching him, waiting for the right moment to strike. The tail of the beast stealthily lowered down by Ultee and yanked him upward, choking him to near death. The creature seemed to grin at Ultee's pain. Ultee, using most of his leftover strength stabbed the creature's tail causing it to drop him. The creature stood on the wall for about 3 seconds, then it gave its unearthly screech and crawled away. "what was that thing?" Ultee thought to himself as he headed home.

5 - man hole attack

Upon coming into the neighborhood in which he lived, ultee saw shepherd and star running around like maniacs, tying up dalmation with a long piece of string. Ultee laughed at this for 3 seconds then walked into his house. The door to ultee's house slammed shut. In the middle of the street the man-hole cover pushed up slightly. The creature hid under the man-hole cover and looked at its surroundings. shepherd walked toward the man-hole, then a arm jolted out of the man-hole. Shepherd screamed the loudest he had ever in his life. Hearing the scream, Ultee ran outside. Shepherd was being dragged into the sewer. Ultee pulled out his sword and quickly shoved it through the strange black arm grabbing shepherd. There was a loud unearthly screech then the arm let go of shepherd and retracted back into the sewer. Shepherd shot into the air and latched onto his father's head, shaking . ultee pulled shepherd off of his head and gently placed him on the ground. Shepherd ran inside faster than he ever had in his life. Ultee stood over the man hole, watching it. After about 30 minutes of doing this, ultee walked back into the house. His wife just looked at him in a confused way. "it's a very attractive manhole" ultee joked as he sat down on the couch...

6 - midnight attacker

At night, when everyone slept, The man hole cover was pushed aside. Out came the creature. Being as black as the night itself, the night gave it the advantage. Everyone was asleep...everyone was vulnerable. The creature, it moved toward the houses, ready to kill. it grabbed the knob of the door, unable to open it since the door was locked. The creature resorted to another method, it slowly opened its mouth and spewed acid onto the door, melting through the door in 3 seconds. The creature then ripped the door off the hinges, and pondered for a second why it hadn't done that in the first place. The creature crept into the house, carelessly knocking over a table with its tail. Ultee awoke from his at the loud crash of the falling table. He quickly grabbed his energy sword from the table that sat next the bed and burst out of the room. In front of ultee stood the creature. The creature stood for a second confirming to itself what events had just taken place in the brief last 2 seconds then it quickly leapt towards ultee, its claws stretched outward.
