1 - Diary One

To People reading this, Note many of the topics in this entry are not created by me most are by Jhonen Vasquez(hope I spelled his last name right) and Sliver, a fellow artist on this site

Last night was terrible, My mother and uncle are redoing the entire house while my dad's at Korea for a year a whole *ing YEAR! So back to the topic I'm a kid who has depression (and to those who have a problem with that fact, Screw you,) and is plagued by constant boredom so I draw or make.....stuff my most recent creation is a heavy chain bracelet and, IT BROKE! so I tell my uncle and he says to get him some pliers then I search and can't find them so I settle for a hammer and a steel wedge then (this was 15 minutes after I tried to get a car to run over a raw egg) my mother freaks out and starts yelling at me I tell her that I'm making something and she basically yelled what are you making then! I walked into my room, said you wouldn't understand, and barricaded the door with...junk and flipped out a heavy binder that I own that contains a lead artist's pencil and a red artist's pencil, two notebooks that I draw in a drawing guide and a whole bunch of self-notes and began to draw like crazy and came back with a jumble of emotions written with in pen in a I guess...Gothic style all over the page a shattered heart and parts of a conversation on the page then I shaded it trimmed the notebook page and walked out of my room 45 minutes after the fight. I will now tell you some....stuff about myself, I am obsessed with the word "Schifty Five" and sadly have lost interest in cartoons and Anime on T.V. I stay up to at least 1:30 every day I like Invader Zim and Johnny the Homicidal Maniac and especially like all art done by Sliver I can't put art on the site though because I don't have a scanner. I am a Twelve year old BOY and have a dorky sister named Alec
