1 - 15000 years ago

It was a stormy night at the temple and the four warriors were locked in. Manga sat by the window sill watching the rain pat against the windows well the boys played with their wooden swords. She turned to face the three boys and ignored her good older brother Dashi. Walking like the princess she was she grabbed an umbrella and went outside. She transformed from her normal self to her fairy form and started to train her magic to new levels. She hit some targets and then the rain started getting harder. She ignored the rain and continued her practice 'til the door opened.

"You're going to get wet out there you know," Manga turned around to see Guan, "come inside and have some coco with us!" Manga turned back to her warrior form and ran inside. They walked to the meditation quarters where Chase and Dashi were sipping on some hot coco. She sat very close to her brother who was acting like the show off he was.

"So Manga what do you think the world will be like in 15000 years?" Chase asked wanting her opinion. She glared at him and blushed Dashi had a plan in store for these two.

"I think we will finally get rid of Wuya there will be four new warriors a few new heroes like a Mama's boy, a lizard guy, a cat girl but if you ask me that's like sending me to a fairy school," Manga sipped on her drink and smelt the sweet air, "but mostly I would think that there would be three of us still alive to see that." Manga wasn't just a Princess of Anime but a physicist so what she said would probably happen.

"Yeah the three of us boys would live and you would die." Dashi started to laugh at this remark. It wasn't very funny for his sister though.

"Actually Chase Guan and I would live and you would live in a puzzle box to trap Wuya." Chase gave her a very scary glare like she knew a secret or two she wasn't telling. She just smiled and laughed at her brother. "We get to live to see the living daylight and you stuck in a puzzle box." She laughed more but remembered her princess lessons. But soon Dashi hit his cup with a spoon.

"Boys and Sister I would like to say under the royal voice of Prince Dashi that from this day forward 'til death Princess Manga of Animela and Chase Young of China shall forever be engaged." Chase spat out his coco and Guan was silent well Manga remained quite.

"You're kidding us right Prince Dashi?" his royal sister said and sipped her coco. Hoping he was playing a prank on her and not telling the truth like he usually does.

"Nope I got a royal proclamation from Ma and Pa." Dashi opened a scroll and passed it to Manga.

"That is Mom's hand writing well I guess I'll have to say the taste of the pudding is in the eating." What she was saying was that she would see and maybe marry him if she liked him later on.

The next day the rain had stopped and the new engaged couple were coming back from the training fields. She ignored what had happened the night before until Chase bowed to her revealing a necklace that she was supposed to wear for all eternity as a symbol of their engagement.

"I made this for you last night I hope we can work this all out." Chase put the necklace on her and she started to cry a bit.

"Chase do you think of me as a weird person?" She asked her sparkling purple eyes glaring at him straight in his eyes.

"No I don't I think your..." Before Chase could finish what he was saying they heard a loud bang from the kitchen. They turned around and ran off to see the damage. The only thing that smelt fishy was there good old enemy Wuya.

"Ah don't you just love the smell of evil I find it quite beautiful." Wuya said as she landed on the floor very so gracefully. That Manga and Chase barely heard her landing.

"The only smell your going to smell is defeat... ANIME POISON!!!!!!!!!!" Soon Wuya's head was full of future anime like Naruto and Sailor Moon. "Okay Chase you hit her high and I'll hit her low." Chase nodded and jumped in the air kicking her in the face. She leaned down and kicked her off her feet. Soon Wuya disappeared and Manga fainted. Chase ran fast enough to catch her.

When she woke up Chase was standing next to her but it wasn't the Chase she loved it was a lizard version of him. He held a cup of soup to her but she refused to drink it. She pulled it away and ran out of her bed. But before she reached the door Chase locked it. She ran to the window but it was locked. There was no way to go so she let herself do the only thing she could. Transform into her fairy form and beat him up with her most powerful attacks.

"You will come with me Manga or you will die." Chase walked closer to her and grabbed her forcing a gulp of the soup but her heart stayed pure all she got was immortality. She screamed and Dashi somehow got in followed by Guan. "Go away I only want the girl." Manga's neck was grabbed by his claws but she became all fiery. Burning his hand Manga flew over to Dashi and Guan. Chase then jumped out the window and Manga stopped her burning.

"Manga what happened who was that." Manga touched her head with her hand and looked at the window. "Was that the lizard guy you told us about?" The two boys touched Manga on the shoulder and she started to cry.

"It was Chase was the lizard man." She ran off to her bed and sobbed on her pillow ignoring her two friends. "I won't die now because of immortality I told you this would happen." Guan walked over to her bed and looked down on his fellow monk.

"Manga you knew this was going to happen why didn't you warn us?" Guan didn't like questions but that was what he was doing giving her a question.

"I guess it slipped my mind. Man if mom was here I would be toast don't tell anyone about this you hear me. If you do I'll use my most powerful attack." The boys remembered what had happened and stepped back.

"my word and you got your highnesses to Right Dashi." Guan elbowed his friend so he would reply.

"my royal word I won't tell a soul." The boys walked out of the room and she stayed there crying.

what was this heap of energy? was it the dragon fire? will they love once again? find out in the next chapter

I love random things

2 - the new sash

the xiaolin monks and the winx girls long awaited to see their friend who was meeting with Master Fung. When she walked out she wore a new sash. She ignored her friends and grabbed her notebook of Anime and walked off. Soon Master Fung walked out holding the 15000 year old sash Manga used to wear. He gave the sash to Stella.

"Here Stella you like belts you could make a use of this." Stella took the sash and had a major fashion idea.

"So what's wrong with Manga? Is she leaving or something?" Kimiko asked hoping she wouldn't be leaving.

"You shall know this afternoon when it's ready." Master Fung walked off leaving them to mingle chat the whole thing.

"I bet she went up a level." Said Clay to his friends. She did lose her sash. I mean it's only as Techna would say Logical." the others looked at each other and agreed "That would make her a grand master dragon like her brother Dashi." Chatta replied I need to go make a cheer."

That afternoon Manga walked into the great hall wearing a light blue gown. Stella just adored how it looked on her. When Manga reached the very front she grabbed her new sash from Master Fung. She tied it around her waist and bowed.

"Today shall mark a day in history for today Princess Manga Anime of Animela shall follow in her brother's footsteps. For today Manga has become a grand master Dragon..." But before Master Fung could finish they felt a cold front come in and a crystal appeared. The crystal soon the crystal turned into Jack Spicer and 4 other crystals appeared. Three of the crystals turned into the trix and the forth was Chase Young.

"Chase Young, why am I not surprised." The winx girls said and the monks got in a battle pose "Were not here to hurt you," Said Icy Smiling We came to warn you." Manga remembered something and stepped up.

"It's about my home isn't it? It's under attack by Baltor. Wuya teamed up with him and now there going to destroy everyone. I have to do something. Manga disappeared into a puff of smoke&.

What will happen to Manga's home realm
